Jail bids by July

It should be possible to issue a call for construction bids on a new Madison County Jail in June or July, Henry R. Gabriel of Granite City, architect for the project, said today.

Work has been proceeding at a rapid pace on detailed plans and specifications since state approval earlier this year of schematic drawings.

The facility, to be financed by a $4 million Madison County bond issue, is to provide 70 or 110 cells, depending on the amount of the bids that are submitted.

It will contain 50,000 square feet instead of the 115,000 square feet originally proposed, when there was hope of adding a federal grant to the bond proceeds.

The smaller structure omits many of the facilities that had been hoped to include, but still calls for an infirmary area to reduce the necessity for transferring ill prisoners to hospitals.

The larger facility would have provided 122 cells, Gabriel said. Circuit Judge William Beatty (Continued on Page 20)

Women's lib appointments issue raised

"Women's liberation" is moving into the political arena.

The Metro-East Women's Political Caucus this week released a statement citing its "disappointment over the failure of Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagauer to include women in his recent appointments of 20 men to special boards within Madison County."

Chairman of the Political Caucus, Mrs. Carol Frederick of East Alton, said, "I'm sure that there are knowledgeable women who would be willing to participate in some capacity on these boards."

"Many women should share in the responsibility of policymaking decisions at all levels of our government.

"Women could complement the fine job already being done by men, in both salaried and non-salaried positions in government."

In a letter to Hagauer, the women's caucus offered to provide a list of women for his consideration in making future appointments.

The letter asserted, "We feel that an effort should be made to recruit and appoint women to similar positions."

"There are numerous knowledgeable and informed women who would be assets to the decision-making process within Madison County who should be considered. We hope that, in the future, you will give serious consideration to the

Steel prices to rise

National Steel Corporation on Tuesday announced steel price boosts effective June 19, similar to the six per cent increase decided on Monday by U.S. Steel Corp.

The Carter administration had insisted on voicing its views and said it accepts the six per cent level as appropriate.

Republic Steel Corp., which announced a 6.8 to 8.8 per cent price hike last Friday, said yesterday it will lower them to six per cent.

Detailed plans to be prepared for overpass

Granite City has received no written demands for a public hearing on proposed location of a downtown overpass spanning the railroad tracks between downtown and West Granite City, a factor that will finalize location of the overpass on 19th Street, the Press-Record learned today.

Selection of the 19th Street location for construction of the proposed $4 million grade separation was given tentative approval by the U.S. and Illinois Departments of Transportation in early March, but final approval of the site was made contingent upon whether or not Granite City citizens might want a public hearing to air their views on the environmental phases of the project.

The clearance of environmental requirements will mean the immediate preparation of design plans by the M. W. Architects & Engineers, St. Louis engineering firm handling the project for the city.

In addition, city engineers will proceed with related work such as finalization of right-of-way, negotiations with railroads and relocation of utilities.

Mayor Paul Schuler said that the city has failed to receive any response to a legal notice published by the city during April in which citizens were

Roll-your-own machine gone

A machine which dispensed cigarette papers to passersby near Wilson Park, on walking routes to three schools, was removed at about 3 p.m. Monday.

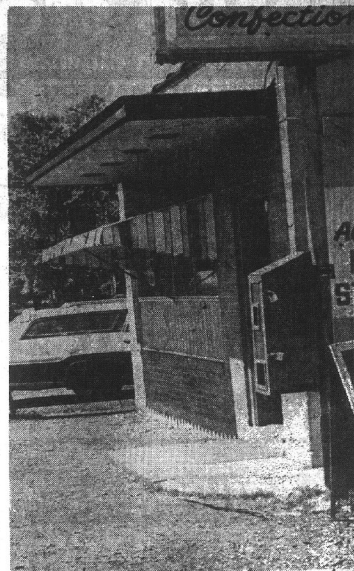

The machine was mounted in a steel box on the post for the Parkway Confectionery sign at 27th Street and Michigan Avenue. The confectionery operator said he did not desire the machine's presence; it was arranged for by a previous operator.

For 50 cents, the machine distributed a package of cigarette papers to anyone passing.

Protecting the machine was a blue metal box completely enclosing it, with bars on the front. There were openings for inserting coins and receiving the cigarette papers. The box was secured by two padlocks.

An official of the Granite City building and inspection office said an investigation by him

Agreements with most contractors

The Southern Illinois Builders Association which represents construction contractors in the heavy building industry in this area has negotiated a new contract with the Teamsters Union, minimizing chances of a strike such as that now threatened in other Illinois districts in a dispute between the teamsters and the Associated General Contractors Association.

Wayne Barber, executive director of the Southern Illinois Builders Association headquartered at Belleville, said the new contract with the Teamsters Union covers 10 union locals in the 39 counties of Southwestern Illinois in which the SIB represents construction contractors who build highways and heavy-structured buildings. At the same time, Barber told the Press-Record that negotiations this year with three other trades unions involved in the highway and heavy building field also have been resolved.

In these unions — the Laborers, Cement Masons and Ironworkers — agreements have been reached extending the present contracts for one year with a wage increase of 50 cents per hour, he said. The contracts in all three unions were to expire July 31 this year. The extensions are to run until

Nameoki board halts road fund

The new Nameoki Town Board of Auditors voted Monday night not to transfer $30,000 from the town fund to the road and bridge fund, despite a "mandate" from the township's electors at the recent annual town meeting ordering the transfer.

Board members indicated a willingness to work with the new Highway Commissioner, Frank Mehelic, on funding drainage programs, but said that they did not feel obligated to transfer the money, because of advice from the township attorney that such a "mandate" was not done according to law. Attorney Irvin C. Slate Jr. told those present that the action of the electors did not follow the requirements of section 164 of the Illinois Revised Statutes and is not binding on the board. He said statutes specify a particular way for the electors to order fund transfers and it was not done according to the statutes. Former supervisor Louis Whitesell objected, saying Slate was using a township officials' handbook which was 10 years old for his opinion and he requested Slate to study the current statutes which, he contended, gave the electors the right to transfer the funds in the manner used at the town meeting.

There was considerable discussion on the issue, with Whitesell and several others in the audience alleging the new board is legally obligated to transfer the funds to the highway fund.

FACELIFT UNDER WAY. Exterior remodeling of the new offices of the Coordinated Youth Services, Niedringhaus and Delmar Avenues, is being done by students of CCHS North and South participating in the school district's building trades program. The work includes removal of large windows and display areas and the framing and paneling of the lower floor. The building formerly housed Graham's Book Store for many years. The work by the students has the approval of Local 633 of the Carpenters Union. The youth service, an agency of the Tri-Cities Area United Way, previously was located at 1255 Niedringhaus Avenue, across the street from its present location. The students have built a house at 54 Bermuda Lane which is being prepared for an open house and for public sale.

PADLOCKED BOX. It contained a machine to dispense packages of cigarette papers outside a confectionery here—until Monday afternoon. Parents of school-bound children questioned its 24-hour-a-day availability to persons of all ages. The vendor yesterday stressed the machine's legality while acknowledging he had removed it. ## Form Madison business group

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

Approximately 40 business operators gathered at the Madison Recreation Center at 7:45 a.m. Tuesday to form a Madison Business Association.

Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison opened the meeting. He told the group:

"There are several ways we can improve our city and city officials can only do so much. What we are here for this morning is to solicit our business community to get more involved and help move our city forward."

"We have the Alpine theme under way with the Sterling Television store finished, and Tony and Joe's almost done.

There are several more merchants that have agreed to adopt the Alpine Theme. This will move faster now as we have a second crew ready to begin work."

"I feel that with the convention center in St. Louis opening, there will be a lot of overflow business and in

Senate finance chairman foe of waterway charges

(Press-Record)
Washington Bureau
President Carter prevailed regarding Locks and Dam 26 and a waterway user charge, but coupling the issues put the bill in the hands of Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the Senate's most adamant foe of waterway charges.

Sen. Mike Gravel's Water Resources Subcommittee, in a mark-up last week, adopted a modified version of Sen. Pete Domenici's bill, S.790, in preference to Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson's bill, S.712.

Stevenson of Illinois had called on Congress to authorize a 1,200-foot replacement lock and a new dam, saying that his bill was drafted as a "limited proposal" to address "all major concerns."

Domenici's bill called for replacement of the Alton facility, plus a national user charge system which after 10 years would recover annually from the barge lines half the last year's building and operating costs of waterways.

Appearing before the Water Resources Subcommittee, U.S. Transportation Secretary Brock Adams had said the Carter administration wanted an 18-month engineering study to determine whether it would be less costly to rehabilitate or replace Locks and Dam 26 with a single 1,200-foot lock.

Adams also reiterated President Carter's call for a waterway user charge, preferably a fuel tax rather than a segment toll.

Using the Domenici bill as the vehicle, the Gravel subcommittee amended it to accommodate the administration's position.

While it adopted the philosophy of a user charge, it did so without the specifics.

The bill, however, as amended calls for 100 per cent recovery instead of Domenici's proposed 50 per cent.

Retaining the user charge concept was what sent the bill to Long's Commerce subcommittee. If the Gravel subcommittee had adopted the fuel-tax approach, the bill would have gone to Long anyway, because he is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee as well.

As called for by Adams the day before, the President got subcommittee sanction for the 18-month engineering study to test feasible alternatives for Locks and Dam 26.

Essentially what Domenici's amendment to his bill would do is conditionally authorize a new lock and dam facility with a single 1,200-foot lock while taking into account the 18-month test.

Mr. Carter would then report to Congress his decision as to whether a major rehabilitation or alternative is feasible. If he finds one feasible, safe and reasonably cost effective, Congress would have 120 legislative days to accept, modify or reject his finding.

The Congressional authorization is already in place if Congress accepts the White House recommendations to go ahead.

The authorization does not carry an appropriation figure, but committee sources said this is not essential at this point.

Long's Louisiana constituency has a vested interest in a vigorous commerce on the Mississippi River and through the locks and dams to accommodate traffic to and from New Orleans, a major port of entry and export.

Sen. Long supports a new Locks and Dam 26 but he is opposed to a waterway user charge.

"He's totally against it," an aide said, noting that Long believes such charges penalize the most fuel-efficient and cost effective transport system for bulk carriers.

Long last month introduced a Senate resolution and referred it to his own Finance Committee, calling for a two-year study of tax policy relating to the entire transportation industry.

Specifically discussing bills introduced to levy fuel taxes or segment tolls on inland waterway commerce, Long said in a Senate statement that all should be examined to determine "which is equitable, fair and even-handed."

His aide said Long plans hearings soon on his resolution.

Presenting the Carter administration's position before the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee's Water Resources Subcommittee, Sec. Adams was supported by Maj. Gen. Ernest Graves, civil works director of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Adams said that, in the interest of fairness, "we believe a fuel tax would be preferable to the segment toll" system of user charges.

Sen. Gravel, D-Alaska, chairman, told Adams, "You have brought somewhat of a blockbuster here."

Barge operators may take Adams' testimony as a setback while the odd pairing of railroads and environmentalists could be elated by the administration's position.

Gravel, however, intimated that victory celebrations could be premature. He pointed out that his subcommittee does not have fuel-tax jurisdiction and that chances are "fairly remote" in the committee that he does have oversight—Long's committee.

Gravel suggested that Adams be prepared to send the subcommittee a letter setting out an alternative to the user tax for consideration before final action on Locks and Dam 26.

The subcommittee completed its hearing on the controversial issue, winding up with spokesmen for the federal agencies.

Adams said Congress should postpone a decision on repairing or replacing the Alton facility pending completion of a $10 million to $15 million engineering study to resolve the question.

He said any future authorizing legislation should prohibit a 12-foot channel on the Upper Mississippi River and provide for additional economic and environmental study on transportation needs on the Mississippi and Illinois rivers.

The department's recent 130-day study suggests that "an increase in the capacity of the Alton facility will certainly be required before the end of the century," he said.

"As a practical matter, however," he added, "a single 1,200-foot lock should be constructed with either major rehabilitation or construction of Locks and Dam 26."

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Thurs., May 12, 1977 Page 3

Rep. Paul Findley, R-20th Dist., commenting later on Adams' statement, said the "good" news was that he recognized the need for additional capacity in the Alton facility, but the "bad" news was his call for more study and additional costs.

On the question of cost-sharing and user charges, Adams quoted Mr. Carter's message on water policy: "The beneficiaries of federal water projects do not bear a fair share of the enormous capital and operating costs."

Adams said the administration believes that it "is no longer in the national interest to continue direct taxpayer support of commercial water transportation without some form of cost sharing."

Although the administration is still working out its waterway cost-sharing proposal, Adams said its three basic points will be:

1. A fuel tax that would increase in increments over five years so full recovery of all waterway operating, maintenance and repair costs would be recovered at the end of that period.
2. All or some portion of the cost of new construction would be recovered over the life of the project.
3. The impact of user charges on shippers would be closely monitored.

Cost sharing, he stressed, "is obviously a question of great sensitivity. The amount and manner in which such a charge is collected could have a significant bearing" on whether necessary legislation.

"Water transportation should join the air and highway modes in paying user charges for federally provided rights-of-way," Adams said.

Gen. Graves, speaking for the Army Corps of Engineers, supported Adams.

"With respect to inland commercial navigation, we believe that a fuel tax is the best means to achieve the President's objective — an announced in his April 18 statement on water projects — to have the beneficiaries of waterway projects pay their fair share of both construction and operating costs."

Armed Forces Day air mail salute to 'Lindy'

Through the cooperation of the Missouri Air National Guard and the American Air Mail Society, a special flight retracing Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh's 1927 air mail route will be made on Armed Forces Day, Saturday, May 21, the 50th anniversary of "Lindy's" famed landing at Paris, France.

Carrying collector's mail, the Air National Guard F-100 Super Sabre jet fighter aircraft, "Spirit of St. Louis," will fly the skies on a nonstop round trip training mission between St. Louis, Springfield, Peoria and Chicago, the original contract air mail route No. 2 served by the Robertson Aircraft Corp. in 1926-1927 when Lindbergh carried the air mail through rain, sleet, snow and fog in an open cockpit plane.

The 1977 flight plan will call for a 75-minute round trip flight as compared with the 1927 trip's 278 minutes flying time.

Aviation enthusiasts and air mail collectors may dispatch their own mail on this flight by sending stamped addressed envelopes with 13-cent postage affixed under separate cover to:

"Captain Lindbergh Special Flight"
c/o Missouri Air National Guard
110th Tactical Fighter Squadron
Lambert International Airport
St. Louis, Mo. 63145

All such mail to be carried must be received by May 19 for proper servicing.

The left side of the envelope should be blank to receive the special "Captain Lindbergh Air National Guard" cachet marking.

All such envelopes will be postmarked with a "Spirit of St. Louis" pictorial cancellation authorized for use by the U.S. Postal Service at "Lambert Air Mail Field Post Office" on May 21, 1977.

MISS MILLS SINGS AT STRAUSS CONCERT
Five graduate students from the University of Illinois opera program appeared as soloists with the UT Symphony in an all-Richard Strauss concert during the weekend in the Great Hall, Krannert Center for the Performing Arts, Urbana-Champaign.

The five, all women, were selected as soloists after a competition for voice students held in February. Included was soprano Eric Mills, 2104 Cottage Ave., Granite City, who sang "Vier Letzte Lieder" ("Four Last Songs"), written in 1948, the year before the composer's death.

Special requests for pilot autographs or affixing postage to envelopes cannot be honored. All mail is handled at the sender's risk.

The special flight was conceived by Robert W. Murch of St. Louis, past president of the American Air Mail Society and collector of pioneer air mail items and aviation historian. Assisting in the project is the Missouri Air National Guard, "Lindy's" own.

"Captain Charles" Air Corps (National Guard) was promoted to colonel by President Calvin Coolidge upon his triumphant return to the U.S. after the celebrated flight nonstop solo across the Atlantic.

Steelers outscore Warrior track team

The annual track and field confrontation between Coach Harry Lang's GCHS North Warriors and Coach Don Miller's GCHS South Warriors went down to the wire yesterday, with North sweeping the top three long jump finalizing positions to win at Steeler Field, 74-67.

"The long jump was what boosted us over the top," noted Lang, "but if we had failed to win the mile relay event we could have lost by three points."

North pointmakers included: Two-mile relay—Don Lucy, Dave Ebrecht, Aaron Hickham, Glen Edwards 1st (8:30); 100 dash—Bruce Jaffe 1st (10.3); Don Cook 2nd; 330 hurdles—Jaffe 1st (40.7); Kevin Burch 2nd; mile run—Baker 1st (4:45); Hickham 2nd; 220 dash—Cook 1st (24.1); Jaffe 2nd.

Mile relay—Greg Stout, Robert Cuevas, Burch, Edwards (8:30); shot put—James Shemwell 2nd; long jump—Greg Landys 1st (18.7); 400 dash—Baker 1st (1:01.3); triple jump—Peters 2nd; pole vault—Landys 2nd.

South pointmakers: 800 run—Jim Dumont 1st (2:02.3); Scott Gardner 2nd; 120 hurdles—Scott Cathey 1st (14.9); 440 dash—Ken Meagher 1st (1:03.5); Bert Houston 2nd; 400 relay—Frank Lapp, Cliff Moran, Dave Mahaffey, Scott Gardner 1st (46.2).

High jump—Greg Field 1st (5-10); Houston 2nd; pole vault—Moran 1st (13.0); shot put—Jay Burch 1st (33.1); Jaffe 2nd; Huelber 1st (142.0) Irwin Rea 2nd; triple jump—Meagher 1st (38.4).

Child hit by car

Mary Chronister, 35, of Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with failure to have a driver's license after her auto went out of control in Kirkpatrick Homes, went into a yard at 3811 Kirkpatrick Homes and struck a child playing in the yard.

The child, Robert Holt, 4012 Kirkpatrick Homes, suffered visible injuries and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for observation. Mary Chronister said she was turning the corner when her foot accidentally stepped on the accelerator, instead of the brake, and she lost control.

Rites set Sunday

Funeral services will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Southern Tabernacle Baptist Church at Brooklyn for Oliver Hughes, 89, of East St. Louis, father of Charles Barbee of Madison.

Mr. Hughes died at his home this week. He was a retired employee of the Norfolk & Western Railroad. He also is survived by his wife, a daughter and a sister.

SALE TO AID DISNEY

TRIP BY ILL. BOY, 15
Because of the deteriorating health of her 15-year-old son, Ricky, who has had muscular dystrophy ten years, Mrs. Rosalie Mayes Sellers (41-2068) will hold a bake sale Friday and Saturday at the Kozayak, Cohen, Tri-City and two Schermer supermarkets. RARE TWO-DOLLAR COLLECTION. This display of newly-printed $2 bills commemorating the Bicentennial of the United States is one of five known sets in existence. The rarity is because the serial numbers are in numerical order with the last two digits starting with 01 and running through 13. Corresponding valued U.S. stamps are affixed and cancelled on April 13, 1976.

The April date was the first day the bills were issued and authorized by Congress as the only day stamps could be cancelled on the currency. The collection was obtained by Ken White of the 5000 block of Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach. The display was assembled by his daughter, Sharon, who used it in conjunction with a high school history course.

Council committees formed

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

New committees that will serve the Granite City Council during the year were chosen during a relatively harmonious meeting of 13 of the council's 14 aldermen in the City Council chambers Tuesday night.

Most of the new committee assignments were agreed upon after the aldermen indicated the committees on which they preferred to serve. Sixth Ward Alderman Gerald Farnley was the only alderman absent, but he was one of five aldermen to receive four committee posts. The other nine City Council members are on three committees each.

Only one major problem developed when six aldermen requested to serve on the Pollution Plant Committee which serves operation of the city's primary and secondary treatment facilities. City ordinances limit council committees to three members.

At another point during the discussions, newly-seated Alderman Fred Schuman Jr. asked for an explanation of the duties of the Air Pollution Committee and inquired how other council members may feel about the appointment of "someone else" the city's Air Pollution Control Board.

He asked specifically if the Air Pollution Committee has the authority to make appointments to the air pollution board.

He was told that it does not, that the members of the board are appointed by the mayor subject to confirmation by the council.

During the discussion Schuman said he is a "distant relative" of Henry Bielecki, former chairman of the clean air board who was replaced by Mayor Paul Schuler in August, 1976, after Bielecki served 10 years as a board member.

Alderman Glen Sprinkle said that Schuman was "out of order" because the aldermen were discussing committee appointments and not "personalities."

Schuman said it was not a matter of personalities, but that he only wanted an idea of how the council members felt about putting somebody else on the clean air board.

Alderman Sam Whitmer told Schuman that the committee has no authority to make appointments and that its main purposes is to represent the City Council at board meetings, to report back to the council on board activities and to handle board business that must clear through the council.

As the meeting opened at 7 p.m., Alderman Charles Douglas asked if anyone had given any thought to how the meeting should proceed. He said he considered the meeting a special council session and that the aldermen should elect a chairman to handle the proceedings.

Whitmer said it had been past practice just to get together, discuss the committee assignments "and split them up to suit ourselves." Whitmer said the meeting was not an official council session, but only a meeting of the aldermen and that election of a chairman was not necessary.

The aldermen agreed that Alderman Clyde Boyd should chair the discussion. Boyd asked that each alderman express his preference for assignment to any committee on which he wished to serve.

As Boyd named each committee, the aldermen who wished to serve spoke up and was placed on the list. At the beginning, in discussion of assignments for the Finance Committee, one of the principal and most important council group, Whitmer said he believed that this committee should not consist of all new council members.

Of the 13 aldermen attending the session, five are newly-elected officials who were seated in the May 3 council session and, as a result, will serve for the first time this year on council committees.

New council members receiving their first assignments are Mrs. Margaret Norn of Ward Five; Lloyd H. Bailey of Ward Five; Paul Ray Bowler of Ward Seven; Schuman of Ward Four, and Douglas of Ward One.

Douglas, Bowler and Schuman, all new members of the council, expressed interest in assignment to the Finance Committee, but after Whitmer explained that he felt an experienced member should be on this committee, Douglas voluntarily withdrew and the aldermen agreed to place Farnley in that post.

Farnley has been chairman of the Finance Committee in past years.

In the final vote, the aldermen agreed that the Finance Committee should consist of Farnley, Bowler and Schuman. The Finance Committee last year consisted of Roy Poulos, Douglas and Earl Baker. Douglas expressed preference for posts on the Ordinance Committee and those assignments were confirmed with only little discussion. Poulos has served as chairman of the Ordinance Committee for the past two years. The other two members of that committee last year were Baker and Steve Basarich who no longer is on the council.

For assignment to the Street and Alley Committee, Boyd, Daves, Bowler, Bailey and Schuman said they would like to be members. In subsequent discussion of the five requests, Schuman and Bowler withdrew their names, leaving the Street and Alley assignments to Boyd, Daves and Bailey.

Boyd served as chairman of the Street and Alley Committee during the past year, with Daves and former Alderman Curtis Blevins as members. He declined to speculate on how such papers are used once purchased.

Law enforcement authorities have said the least in an advertising design closely resembles a marijuana plant. Amberger stressed there is no way he could police use of cigarette papers obtained from his vending machines. In considering assignments to the Pollution Plant Committee, Sprinkle told the aldermen that he would like to remain on that committee because of the familiarity with a number of problems that have developed in recent months — primarily the shortage of manpower caused by the illness of Plant Superintendent Robert Jackson and several other workers, combined with retirements and vacation problems.

Six aldermen requested placement on that committee — Mrs. Norn, Baker, Sprinkle, Morien, Boyd and Douglas. Morien said he also would like to remain on that committee because he has "been with it for several years — through the building of the new plant," and is familiar with the plant's operation.

Final selection of this committee gave the three assignments to Sprinkle, Morien and Mrs. Norn.

Other committee selections included:

Fire and Water — Baker, Decatur and Morien.
Lights — Mrs. Norn, Baker and Douglas.
Negotiating — Schuman, Decatur and Daves.
Intergovernmental — Sprinkle, Douglas and Bailey.
Planning and Zoning — Bowler, Whitmer and Poulos.
Public Utilities — Schuman, Douglas and Sprinkle.
Special Sewers — Daves, Farnley and Boyd.
Sanitation — Whitmer, Decatur and Morien.
City Hall — Farnley, Whitmer and Sprinkle.
Sanitation — Poulos, Daves and Mrs. Norn.
City Buildings — Bailey, Boyd and Bowler.

A list of committees will be sent to Mayor Paul Schuler who will appoint the chairmen of the committee.

Amberger told the Press-Record Wednesday that he has been in the vending machine business as a sideline for the past year, operating within Madison County.

He described it as a legitimate activity concentrating on cigarette papers. A green business card purportedly for "Freque Brother's Interprints" includes a drawing of a plant with the letters F-B-I on three leaves of the plant and the motto, "in papers we roll," underneath the drawing. The card bore the name Karl Amberger and a local telephone number.

The licenses have not yet been mailed and are being held pending clearance from City Attorney George Flicoff, who was said to be studying the applications.

City officials said it is legal to sell cigarette papers to anyone, of any age. They said the out-door machine was removed as soon as they told the operator of the confectionery that the machine might slightly overhang public property on the side of the building.

Labels will list weight

New canned food labels designed for consumer information and economy will reach supermarket shelves this summer.

The labels list solid contents as well as net weight. Most major packers will begin immediate production of the new "solid content" labels by the 1977 pack.

By 1978, most full lines of fruits and vegetables will have the new labels. Solid content — the weight of the fruit or vegetable "before addition of liquid necessary for processing" — will be displayed on the front and back panels of the new labels.

The National Canners Association has urged its 450 members to voluntarily adopt solid content labeling. It is designed, says the association, to give consumers a more accurate and understandable measure of what they are buying.

The program differs from "drained weight" labeling proposals in that it does not require the destruction of canned food samples to arrive at an accurate weight declaration. Solid content is measured during the canning process — before the container is vacuum sealed.

"Drained weight," the weight of solids after the product has been processed, can be measured only through destructive sampling.

Association officials estimate that the alternative drained weight proposal would cost canners and consumers an extra $94 million annually and require the destruction of about 16 million cans of food. Solid content weight records will be made available to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration by the packers.

BADGE OF SERVICE is presented to Probationary Patrolman Frank William Papa, 24, Monday by Madison Chief of Police Donald L. Bridgick. Papa said he became a policeman because he found the work interesting and "I like to be of service to people."

Papa begins career as Madison policeman

"While working as a dispatcher when I was in college I found police work interesting and I like working with people and being of help whenever I can," Frank W. Papa said as he began his police duties in Madison this week. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. (Louise) Papa, 1807 Third St. Madison.

He attended St. Mary-St. Mark grade school and Assumption High School, graduating in 1971. He entered St. Louis University and earned a bachelor's degree in sociology in 1975. Prior to becoming a police officer, he worked as an administrative assistant to Madison Mayor Mike Sastry. While in college, he worked two summers as a police dispatcher in Madison and almost one full year dispatching before going to work for the mayor. An avid sports fan, he plays on two softball teams, Bo Beckman Ford and the V. and V. softball team. He is the nephew of Sgt. William Papa of the Madison Police Department.

Order probation

Robert C. Duncan, 1003 Washington Ave., has been sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court to serve two years of probation and to participate in a drug rehabilitation program in St. Louis, after pleading guilty to unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

Duncan allegedly had a drug in his possession when he was arrested Dec. 5, 1976. The sentence was pronounced by Circuit Judge William Beatty.

Chouteau rejects overtime pay pleas

After several weeks of discussion, the Chouteau Town Board of Auditors voted Monday night to refuse to pay overtime pay requests submitted last month by two former highway department employees.

The workers contended last month they are owed the money from overtime worked in January and the board asked them at that time to bring additional information before the board showing why they felt they were entitled to the overtime.

Highway department records were checked and the pay requests and records were compared Monday night by the board.

Although the records were unclear on overtime already paid and vacations and sick days due the workers, the trustees alleged that one worker had been paid for 185 hours work in a two-week period and was requesting overtime pay for an additional 40 hours during the same period.

After voting not to approve the overtime, the board noted there is no clear working agreement between the highway department employees and the township regarding holidays, sick days vacations and other benefits.

The new township highway commissioner, Wilfred "Bud" Eberhardt, said he will draft such a policy as soon as possible and present it to the board for consideration.

Eberhardt noted the rules now will apply only to one full-time highway department employee since the other five men in his department are employed under the county's Manpower grant and observe the regular county holidays and benefits.

In other business, the board voted to transfer the $5,896 received from the new Anti-Recession Fiscal Assistance Act from the town fund to the road and bridge fund and earmark it for resurfacing and repairing the access road and parking lot for the new township hall and community center building and for the adjoining highway department garage. It also was stipulated that any balance remaining after work on the access road and parking lot is completed may be used for the maintenance of existing roads.

The township's attorney was requested to prepare a resolution amending the road and bridge budget so the additional funds can be spent without overspending in any budget category.

Police chase ends in arrest

Wayne McGee, 30, St. Louis, faces three charges after his auto allegedly was chased by a police car several blocks at 5:40 p.m. Tuesday.

An officer on patrol alleged seeing a pickup truck violate the stop sign at 17th and State streets at a high rate of speed. The policeman turned his squad car around and searched for the truck, seeing it in an alley between Grand Avenue and State Street, still driving at a high rate of speed, he alleged.

He chased the truck with red lights and a siren on 18th Street and State Street until the truck stopped suddenly at 17th and State streets and the driver got out and approached the policeman.

McGee was arrested and the truck was searched. Inside, police alleged, was an open can of beer. McGee was charged with disobeying a stop sign, attempting to elude police and illegal transportation of liquor.

Women Cougars 4th in state softball meet

The women softball Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville won three of their five games as they finished fourth place in the Large College State Softball Tournament in Dekalb during the weekend. For the Cougars, who had never participated in a post-season tournament, fourth place honors were sweet and a reward for an impressive campaign.

The Cougars initially battled to an extra-inning victory over their arch-rivals, the Panthers of Eastern Illinois University, 5-4. In their half of the eighth inning, they sent four batters to the plate and won the game.

Laura "Jo Jo" Brooks, left-fielder, started the inning with a hit. Sharon Frey, who tried to sacrifice bunt her to second, reached first base on an error by the third baseman. Second baseman Jane O'Laughlin bunted to reach base.

With the bases loaded and no outs, Debbie Meehan blasted a line drive past the Eastern shortstop to break up the game. SUE lost to the Western Illinois University Leathernecks, 6-1. In the fourth inning, senior centerfielder Jan Green tripled and freshman hurler Tammy Rainwater singled.

Miss Rainwater pitched all five of the Cougar contest. Now in the losers' bracket, the Cougars won 4-1 over the Wildcats of Northwestern University. Shortstop Jayne Bertoglio connected on a base hit and scored the first Cougar run. Rightfielder Sharon Frey scored in the second for the Cougars, tripling and advancing on a passed ball.

The victory advanced the SUE squad to a game with host and fourth-ranked Northern Illinois. The Huskies, beaten by top-seeded Illinois State University, were expected to easily down the Cougars, but aided by a two-run seventh-inning rally the local team edged NU, 5-4.

Laura Brooks led off with a hit and Miss Frey singled. Miss O'Laughlin bunted to load the bases with no outs.

Debbie Meehan reached first on an error by the third baseman, scoring Miss Brooks, and Kathy Grogg reached base on another Husky error. Miss Frey scored. In the only home run of the weekend series, sophomore Kathy Grogg scored hit one in the fifth inning.

The Cougars next met the sister school, SIU at Carbondale. The Salukis had beaten the Cougars before in a doubleheader by scores of 4-3 and 1-0, and the Carbondale women prevailed 5-1.

In a semifinal battle, the Cougars lost to the Western Illinois Leathernecks, 6-1. In the fourth inning, they sent four batters to the plate and won the game.

later scored when Kevin Hayes singled. Behind the plate for Madison is Catcher Brian Eaves. Trojan Joe Piechocinski is at the right of Page.

Fleet GC, Madison girls set for district competition Saturday

Twenty-six high schools will be represented Saturday by athletes competing for top honors in the Granite City School Association girls' district track meet, starting at 9 a.m. at Belleville East High School. Both the Granite City schools and Madison High will participate.

Represented also will be the Belleville schools of West, Althoff and East, plus Aviston Central, Breese Mater Dei, Cahokia Central, Collinsville, Columbia, Dupont, both East St. Louis Senior and Lincoln, Freeburg, Lebanon, Marietta, Mascoutah, Nashville, New Athens, O'Fallon, Trenton West, Valmeyer, Waterloo High and Gibault of Waterloo. Advancing to the state finals at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, May 26-27, will be winners and runner-up of each event.

Also going to the state meet will be the fifth, fourth and third place finishers providing their times and distances equal or surpass pre-set state qualifying marks.

The Belleville West girls are considered pre-meet favorites to claim most individual honors Saturday. But the three Granite City coaches of girls' teams are not discounting the possibility of sending some of their athletes to Charleston.

Sharon Bloodworth's GCHS North Steelerettes are considered strong in at least four events — Dawn Ford long jump, Kay Marcum 800-yard low hurdles, Tina Taylor shot put and Laura Finestriker, Dawn Ford, Stephanie Winfield and Clara Bates in the sprint relay.

Dawn Ford this week posted a distance of 17.4 one inch more than the state qualifying mark in the long jump. Kay Marcum is running close to the 80-yard hurdle mark of 11 seconds, and Tina Taylor has put the shot 36 feet, one foot off the required mark.

Coach Bloodworth notes that the state sprint relay time is 1:51 and North's squad has finished the event in 1:56.

GCHS South mentor Charlotte Charlotte said three girls are maintaining marks near required times and distances.

"Cindy Jackson is throwing the discus 95-11 (the state figure is 110 feet), Dana DeWep is running the 80 hurdles one second off the state time and Linda Bell is sprinting the 100-yard dash in 12.3 (state is 11.4).

Madison High's Rosemary Reading has faith in all of the school's girls, "and we expect Pat Melton to be one of the GCHS all-stars in 100-yard dash competition."

Miss Melton is running the mile in 12.1 seconds.

3 local teams are defeated in district

When mighty Casey struck out, there was no joy in Mudville.

And joy is severely restrained in the Quad-Cities now that all three varsity baseball teams have failed to survive 1977 district competition, the key to an eventual chance at statewide honors.

Edwardsville's Tigers earned a berth in their own Illinois High School Association baseball regional tournament this weekend, along with district winners Valmeyer, Bethalto and Lebanon, by claiming the district title here Tuesday afternoon with a controversial 7-5 win over Madison's Trojans.

Edwardsville had advanced into the title game with a 4-3 win Monday over host GCHS South. And Madison beat GCHS North by the same score Monday to qualify to meet the Tigers.

South earlier eliminated Collinsville, 3-2. Controversies arose Tuesday over many alleged officiating mistakes by umpires.

"I don't mean to take anything away from Edwardsville," said an apparently angry Coach Bill Campbell, "but in 18 years of involvement in the sport, I have never seen such officiating."

The mentor called attention to a play in the sixth inning with Madison ahead 5-4, two Tigers on base and two outs.

"The next batter tapped the ball softly back to Ray Peoples on the mound and failed to beat the throw to first."

"After the runner had left the base and was walking to his team's bench, one of the umpires ruled the ball foul and retalled the batter to the plate."

Campbell later remarked,

"We took our lumps and you can bet we'll be bouncing back next year for a shot at the title."

Edwardsville scored first in the third, lining when Bob Beutler tripled and Wayne Rennie singled him in.

Madison went ahead in that frame 5-1 when Keith Layton reached base on an error, Brian Eaves (designated hitter) singled, Peoples reached on an error, Pete Feurka singled and Joe Piechocinski singled in two.

Two Trojans made it home in the next inning for a 5-1 margin. A bunt back to the mound by Ed Burns after Prince Giles walked resulted in both runners being safe when the Tiger hurler threw to second base too late.

Eaves singled, with the throw to home retiring Giles. Burns scored on a wild pitch and Peoples doubled in Eaves. Edwardsville scored once in the fifth and then pulled to within one run at 5-4 in the sixth when Beutler doubled in two. Then the controversial inning tied the score and saw the winning runs also cross the plate.

A last-ditch effort in the final frame to deadlock the game failed when two MHS runners were stranded with the final out.

Relief hurler Jim Holek got the win for the district champions, and Tom Jones and Peoples divided the MHS pitching duties.

Monday's semifinal contest at Wilson Park between Madison and GCHS North followed regular season trends, going down to the wire before being decided by one run.

In previous meetings, North won 3-2 and lost 6-5.

Coach Robert "Bob" Stegemeier's Stealers took off at full speed in the opening inning, aided by Madison's only two fielding errors of the game.

Terry Page started the two-run inning with a single off Trojan Feurka's game-opening pitch. Page advanced on an error and a wild pitch before Kevin Hayes singled for his 16th run-batted-in of the season.

Hayes moved around the bases when Bruce Wright was hit by a pitch and another error occurred. He scored on Jodi Fallon's groundout.

Feurka gave up two hits in the next inning — singles by Mike Simpson and Jeff Hamilton — which put the Stealers farther ahead, 3-0. But he settled down for the remaining five frames, yielding only one more hit to North to shut off Steeler scoring possibilities.

"Pete was mixing up his pitches, resulting in only four or five batted balls getting past the infield," noted Campbell. Madison cut into the North lead in the fourth. Peoples singled, stole second, advanced on an error and scored with a groundout by Giles.

Walks in the fifth to Feurka and Piechocinski were followed by a double steal. On a sacrifice fly to rightfield by Jones, when the ball streaked between the outfielder's legs, enabled the Trojans to tie the game at 3-3.

The winning edge for Madison came in the final frame. Feurka walked and Piechocinski doubled him in.

"Our speed and Pete's pitching aided our efforts greatly," the Madison mentor summarized.

Edwardsville players will linger in the minds of GCHS South fans and players who witnessed the Tigers' 4-3 eight-inning win over the Warriors at the South tourney Monday afternoon during a semifinal game of the district competition.

Tigers Rob Harris and Greg Barton added finishing touches to a contest which until the final out was still anyone's ballgame. Deadlocked at 3-3 after seven innings and with two outs in the top of the extra inning, Harris tripled in Barton, who had walked.

Barton, in the bottom of the eighth, then occupied his right-field position with South batter. There were two away and the potential tying and winning runs were at first and second.

Preserving his team's flustered feeling, the Tiger fielder closed the gate on the Warriors with a game-ending catch of a flyball off the bat of Eldon Wardell.

Tiger hurler Jerry Logan improved his season record to 9-1 with the win, which gained for Edwardsville the 20-victory plateau (20-0).

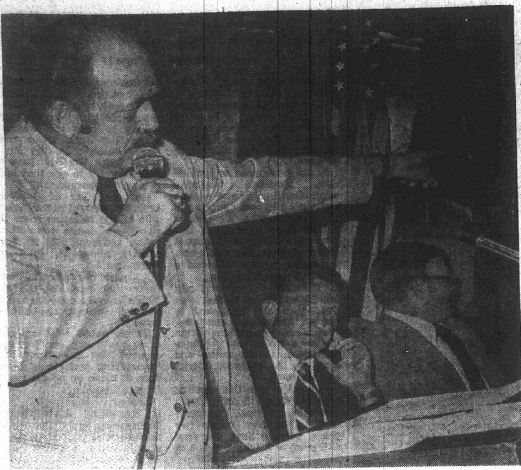

Warrior Paul Evans went the distance on the mound ending his season with a 10-2 mark. South finished with a 23-7 team record.

ACCUSING FINGER is pointed at Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron, seated at an adjacent table, by Cahokia Police Chief Merle Justus, master of ceremonies at Monday night's Law and Order banquet, but the remark being made is a typical Justus — style roasting, causing humorous reflections on the faces of Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal, center, and Elks Exalted Ruler Harry Taylor.

Goal of prompt trials and confinement—O'Neal

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal focused on a new "get tough on crime" legislative program, designed to "add speed to the trial process and keep dangerous criminals off the streets longer," in his remarks here Monday evening at the seventh annual Law and Order banquet.

Among the bills in the legislative package, Lt. Gov. O'Neal said, are creation of a new class of felonies — Class X — providing stiffer penalties for committing heinous crimes and for habitual offenders; an omnibus hearing system; restricted continuance procedures and a new statewide Defender General's Office.

About 250 attended the dinner at Charlie's Restaurant. The affair is sponsored each spring by Granite City Elks Lodge 1063 to recognize outstanding services afforded the public by law enforcement officers in the Quad-Cities and Madison County.

Replacing the practice of presenting awards to individual police departments, Harry Taylor, Elks exalted ruler, announced a cash gift will be presented to the Sherwood Youth Camp.

The camp, located near Galesburg in Northwestern Illinois, is a youth facility operated by the Illinois Police Association.

Exalted Ruler Taylor led the pledge of allegiance and welcomed the police department representatives, civic and political leaders and other guests.

The Rev. Don F. Pierson, pastor of Nameoki Presbyterian Church, offered the invocation.

Toastsmaster Merle Justus, Cahokia chief of police, gave his usual "roasting" to veteran police chiefs, Ronald J. Veizer of Granite City and Ralph D. Brawley of Venice, amid laughter and good natured bantering from their department members.

Similar tokens of humorous disrespect were offered by Chief Justus about the new Madison police chief, Donald Bridick, and Rosewell Bennett Jr., Pontoon Beach chief of police.

The mayor of Granite City, Paul Schuler, Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison and Venice Mayor William "Mike" Ebersoldt fared only slightly better.

Other distinguished guests, many of whom were introduced in Justus' biting style, included State Senator Sam Vadalabene, Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron, Madison County Sheriff John Maeras, St. Clair County Sheriff

Paul J. Klinecar, and the latter's chief deputy, Richard Mercuro.

Lt. Gov. O'Neal, sheriff of St. Clair County for six years prior to his election on the state ticket last November, said, "Crime still remains a distressing problem today."

"Very few individuals are able to escape its touch. Many people are afraid to walk the streets at night, and many consider it unwise to venture out even in the so-called safe neighborhoods."

"But... we have reacted to crime by locking ourselves indoors at night and, in the cities, we've reacted by moving our homes and businesses out of the affected areas."

"Still we are haunted by crime and we are the ones paying the bills through loss of individual freedoms, through higher insurance rates and through ever increasing tax bills," the lieutenant governor said.

"The Thompson-O'Neal Administration believes it is time to get tough on crime."

Noting that a legislative package "has been approved at this point by a senate committee and sent on for further consideration," the guest speaker outlined several bills proposed by the state administration to "add speed to the trial process and keep dangerous criminals off the streets longer."

He continued, "Governor Thompson is proposing tough penalties on those who have dangerous weapons in their possession while committing felonies."

"Statistics regularly disclose that crimes committed with weapons are on the rise and they must be curtailed," Lt. Gov. O'Neal stressed.

Under the new Class X felonies, offenders would be sentenced to mandatory minimum terms, ranging from six years in prison without parole to life in prison without parole.

"Class X crimes would include committing a felony while possessing a dangerous weapon, rape, kidnapping for ransom, arson, indecent liberties with a child and transactions involving hard drugs," the lieutenant governor said.

Under the proposed legislation, those convicted of murder would face a mandatory minimum sentence of 14 years in prison without parole.

The proposed measures also call for any person convicted of three Class X felonies on separate occasions, after the legislation became law, to be considered an habitual offender and sentenced to life imprisonment upon their third conviction, the lieutenant governor explained.

Furloughs for Class X offenders would be prohibited under the bill until 60 days before scheduled release from prison and the Parole and Pardon Board would have authority to determine the release date.

"The Class X Felony Bill would also create a 12-member criminal sentencing commission to weigh the fiscal and prison population impact of the Class X felony category, to suggest additions to the Class X category, to develop standardized sentencing guidelines and to propose an imprisonment plan by March 1, 1979," Lt. Gov. O'Neal informed the Elks members and police officers.

To speed up the process of bringing accused persons to trial the Thompson plan includes bills to create a Defender General's Office, effective July 1, 1979, replacing the present county public defender and appellate defender provisions.

The measure is aimed at better coordination of legal representation for persons who cannot afford to hire counsel, he explained.

The Defender General would be a full-time lawyer, appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court for a four-year term at a salary of $40,000 a year," Lt. Gov. O'Neal declared.

He continued, "A Defender General's office would be established in each judicial district, with all expenses of the offices to be paid by the state, estimated between $3 and $5 million annually."

Other legislation proposed by Gov. Thompson and described by Monday night's speaker, includes establishment of an omnibus hearing system for all pretrial motions within 15 days after a defendant is charged and arraigned, requiring a conference between the prosecutor and defense counsel.

Similar firm dates are set forth in the proposal to establish a firm trial date and permit exceptions only to "prevent an injustice," the lieutenant governor said.

"Two other proposals by Gov. Thompson would greatly restrict granting continuances after a firm trial date has been set by a judge without competent evidence that an injustice would occur."

"The second would allow the prosecution to move for the substitution of judges on the ground that the ones assigned to the case are so prejudiced that a fair trial cannot be obtained."

"Presently, only a defendant may request such a change," Lt. Gov. O'Neal said.

"Gov. Thompson also is supporting criminal justice bills already in the legislative hopper," he said.

"House Bill 346 would grant the state the right to demand a jury trial, where now only the defendant can make such a demand, and House Bill 349 would allow the prosecutor to obtain a court order for the defense to reveal its witnesses."

Only the defense can do this at the present time, Lt. Gov. O'Neal added.

Other bills dealing with provisions for establishing bail adds to conditions the court can impose on someone who is released on bail, including prohibiting those on bail to carry a firearm and illegally use alcohol or drugs, or associating with people who do.

Also among the legislative proposals, another bill would discourage plea bargaining and require state's attorneys to file a certified statement with the court to explain a decision to reduce, withdraw or dismiss any criminal charge which carries a mandatory minimum prison sentence.

"This legislative program is just an example of how the Thompson Administration will be working to upgrade and speed the system of justice," the lieutenant governor concluded.

Speaking informally after his presentation, Lt. Gov. O'Neal told the Press-Record he believes "the proposed laws, once enacted, will serve as a serious deterrent to potential offenders."

"These proposed laws are needed to give our law enforcement officers a few more hammers to carry," he said.

"We expect to see a marked drop in serious crime as these bills become law," he added.

Although supportive in general of the overall measures as proposed by Gov. Thompson, State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron said he had reservations concerning the constitutionality of some aspects of the proposals.

Byron, who is president of the Illinois States' Attorneys' Association, said his group was given the task of revamping the state juvenile code and is expecting to have several measures introduced to effect changes in the code.

"It is a lengthy process," the Madison County state's attorney noted.

ARTICULATE SPEAKER Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal expresses appreciation to the Granite City Elks for honoring area police departments. "Too many times all we hear is criticism of law enforcement from those who would be first to call the police or sheriff's office if they felt they were under attack," the former St. Clair County sheriff said.

Eagle Park groups plan student trips

The Eagle Park Improvement Association and the Eagle Park Action Committee are combining forces to sponsor a series of summer field trips for school children living in Eagle Park Acres, an unincorporated community south of Madison.

The outings will be taken by chartered bus to various historic points of interest in Illinois, Missouri and Indiana, starting the first week in June, a spokesman said.

A trip to Washington, D.C. in late summer is being planned to conclude the excursions.

The trips are being arranged on a Saturday or Sunday and, although mostly scheduled for one day only, a few will require an overnight stay, it was learned.

Chaperones, both men and women, are being recruited now to accompany the students.

Fund-raising projects to help finance the field trips will be held and donations will be sought from individuals and church groups, the organizers said.

Notices concerning the field trip program will be distributed Monday to homes in Eagle Park, asking if a child is interested in participating and for parental permission.

Madison we will have something to attract the people. "If you as the business people will give a couple of hours of your time once a month to meet and work on problems together, Madison can and will move forward."

"I think we need to get our own Madison business organization going and we can arrange different events to draw people here. We had an Ethnic Days celebration last year and we are going to have it again this year. This would be a good time to get a cooperative business promotion going."

"The City Council and city administration are willing to do their part and try hard to change the image of our town. We are doing everything within the law to get the old buildings torn down or renovated and clean up the business district and the town."

"I want to turn this meeting over to Wayne Scannell with just this one final comment: working together, within two years, we will have everyone sitting up and taking notice of Madison," Sasyk concluded. Scannell told the meeting: "I am happy to see everyone here this morning because that means you are interested in improving our business community."

"I think that together we can organize sales, have special events, bring in an Alpine band. We can make events not just ordinary sales, but real community activities which people from all the area will visit. We can involve our Lions club, Rotary club, Explorers, Junior Service club, senior citizens, make money and have a good time doing it," Scannell said.

"You can forget about sitting back and waiting for a customer to come into the store to buy something. Those days are over. But, we can make a powerful comeback working together."

"I would like to open our meeting now for comments from the group," Scannell said. Avery Schermer, of Schermer Brothers Supermarket, said: "The mayor and I grew up in this town and we are good friends, although as he knows I voice my opinions when I feel they are needed."

"We here in Madison are in a very enviable position. We have a city administration saying to us as merchants: 'We're going to help you and want to help you if you let us.' Most towns have a strong business association and most of the time they have to beg and plead with the city administrators for any help."

"My comment, I guess, is this: if you really want to do something in attracting, improving and holding business, let's take advantage of the help being offered by the city."

"I have had a couple of people saying the mayor is in everything and the business association will become too political. Well friends, there is politics in everything and that is a fact of life. I think it is far better to be in a climate where the political organizations are willing to help the business community than when they ignore business as they do in many areas. We don't have to look very far to see that happening," Schermer said.

Harvey Miller of Gateway Loan Co. said, "I'm for getting with it and selecting some officers, get some committees going. Let's not just sit here talking about it, let's do something."

A general discussion followed concerning some of the old buildings in the downtown area and problems with the building owners.

Sasyk noted that several court cases are pending and assured the merchants that "everything possible is being done to clean up or get rid of these old buildings."

James Riskovsky of Riskovsky Automotive Engineering, said, "One thing I think we need to do is develop a simple map showing what services our city has to offer and have them available in quantity for visitors at the convention center and elsewhere."

It was noted by Dave Leizer of Glik's Department Stores that Joseph Glik was willing to make the parking lot in Madison open to all downtown shoppers. Mayor Sasyk said, "Where the merchants will pay for the material, the city will help by furnishing the manpower and equipment needed to resurface any lot in the area that will be used for visitors at the convention center and elsewhere."

"We also will be making some new parking regulations so that people don't take advantage and park in the new lots we fix up and then go to St. Louis."

The business people then decided to meet again at 8 a.m. Tuesday, May 17, in the Madison Recreation Center and elect officers and begin functioning with various committees.

way commissioner, who ran on Whitwell's ticket in the April 5 township election and opposed the ticket headed by the new supervisor, Harold Davis.

Mehelic said he will ask his attorney to file suit to have the funds transferred.

Drainage work to be done by the highway commissioner under his authority to protect his roads also was discussed by the board, which pledged to approve all needed funds for drainage, but vowed to retain control over which projects will be funded.

Mehelic said he plans to work with the township and the Metro-East Sanitary District in funding all necessary drainage projects. He said he will seek a meeting with the sanitary district board as soon as possible to discuss the township's drainage problems, including drainage of the Wilshire and Parkway Estates areas.

A letter was read from Mehelic to John Flowe of the Illinois Division of Water Resources, seeking the agency's help in planning a relief station and force main to drain those areas.

He said he feels a force main along Stratford Lane to where it becomes a gravity flow toward the new Maryville Road construction is the best way to drain the area to the west.

The letter noted natural drainage appears to be to the east, but a circuit court order—later upheld by the appellate court—orders the water to flow to the west to avoid flooding some farmers' fields.

He noted the new construction of Maryville Road to Route 162 will provide large drainage culverts which may be used to drain water from Wilshire and Parkway Estates, if the lift station, force main and connecting sewers can be installed.

He indicated the project will be too expensive for the township to undertake alone and requested the state aid the township. Aid also is requested of the sanitary district, which has the only true drainage authority for this area, he contended.

Mehelic was presented a petition signed by about 200 persons objecting to his removal of stop signs at Stratford Lane and Village Lane.

He said he did not feel the stop sign was necessary and children were using it as an unsupervised crossing to school rather than using the supervised crossing, but he agreed to put the signs back up, since the residents want them there.

The signs were returned Tuesday.

Mehelic said his department wants to help the people and is doing everything it can to meet their wishes and provide as many services as possible with the money it has available.

An example he cited was the purchase last week of a street sweeper from the village of Pontoon Beach for $1. He said he hoped to make necessary repairs and try to get the unit in operation in the township and village this week.

Some residents inquired why the township has to service the village and Supervisor Harold Davis responded the township has an obligation to the village since most village residents are in Nameoki Township and pay taxes to the township.

City car tags

went on sale April 18. Under the city ordinance, the tags cost $3 for passenger cars until May 15, when the cost increases to $5.50. The higher price also will apply to senior citizens who are permitted to purchase the tags at $1 until the May 15 deadline date. The deadline this year, however, falls on Sunday, so that the higher cost becomes effective on Monday. The city clerk's office is closed Saturday and Sunday.

Motorists who still have not obtained the tags may do so at the lower price through today and tomorrow at the office of City Clerk Robert Stevens in the city hall.

Stevens said Wednesday that a total of 9,750 tag tags have been sold thus far, which is at a lower pace than usual. The city usually sells between 16,000 and 17,000 passenger car licenses.

The tags also are required on other vehicles with a varying scale of fees applying to trucks on the basis of truck weights.

Township officials harassed by calls

Harassment by a small group of persons is hampering operations of the new Nameoki Township government, Harold Davis, township supervisor, told the Press-Record Wednesday.

Davis issued a plea for all township residents to use their time and energy for the good of the township and unite behind the goals of the new administration, including improved drainage, health programs and other proposed improvements.

At least 12 calls per day are being received by the township's new office staff where the callers curse, threaten, harass or try to frighten the staff member answering the call, Davis said.

Other callers hang up when the phone is answered, he added.

"I have been getting calls at home, day and night, which I can only describe as nasty calls. I have been told my house and office are bugged and that a smear campaign was to be launched against me. Some callers just hang up without saying anything," Davis stated.

"This type of activity is hindering the office to the detriment of all the residents of Nameoki Township. If necessary, I will call the authorities or some private agency in an attempt to identify these people and halt these activities."

"I hope this is not necessary. I appeal to all citizens of Nameoki Township to help this administration work toward resolving all of their needs," Davis concluded.

Ira Altenberger, 35, of 2155 Roger Ave., was injured when his motorcycle and the auto of Leslie Stiles, 3608 Waterman Ave., collided on Maryville Road at Woodlawn Avenue at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Altenberger alleged both vehicles were northbound when Stiles' auto started turning right from the left lane in front of the motorcycle. Stiles was issued a ticket charging improper lane usage.

Altenberger suffered visible injuries, but declined to be taken to a hospital.

Two charged

Ralph North, 30, of 2166 near Lee Ave., was charged with aggravated assault and Robert Keeney, 20, of 2200 Grand Ave., was charged with disorderly conduct after they allegedly were involved in a disturbance behind North's home this week.

The two men signed complaints against each other.

Keeney alleges North fired two shots near him when he went to North's yard to talk to a girl he had met.

North alleges Keeney came to the yard on two previous occasions acting in a disorderly manner and North borrowed a gun to protect himself and his family. He alleged that when Keeney returned in a car with a second man, North fired two shots into the ground to frighten the men away.

North surrendered a gun to officers. Both were released on notices to appear in court.

Success against cataracts

Cataract has claimed the sight of one of every seven blind persons in the United States today.

The puzzling and tragic aspect of this statistic, the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness says, is that most of such blindness need never occur.

A contributing factor to cataract's toll is the fallacy that loss of sight is an inevitable consequence of the aging process, and that nothing can be done; not so, says the Illinois Society. A spokesman comments:

"Surgery to remove cataract is one of the most successful operations performed today. Among those who undergo this operation, 90 to 95 per cent have useful vision restored."

"Even very elderly patients can have cataract surgery if their general health is good and they have no other eye conditions which could interfere with the operation or its outcome."

During the past decade, according to the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., many technical improvements have made cataract surgery safer and more successful.

"Unfortunately, many people with cataract often fear surgery unnecessarily. Many are afraid of suffering pain, or they fear that the surgery itself will cause permanent blindness. Others may doubt that the operation will restore vision."

"Elderly patients may fear hospitalization, and patients of all ages may refuse to accept the fact they are losing their sight."

"Although these fears are usually unfounded, they account in considerable part for the fact that although a successful treatment exists, cataract remains a major cause of blindness and visual disability in our nation."

Cataract is a clouding of the transparent lens of the eye which interferes with vision.

The lens is that part of the eye just behind the colored iris. It plays an important role in focusing light onto the retina, the tissue which transmits visual impulses to the brain. As a cataract forms, the lens changes from clear to milky white and blocks the passage of light.

Cataract occurs most often among people over age 55 and is associated with aging. However, conditions other than aging can also cause cataract. Children are sometimes born with cataract as a result of genetic defects or other factors occurring before birth. Diabetes and other metabolic disorders, radiation exposure, and injuries to the eye may also cause cataract.

The spokesman adds, "At present, surgery is the only method for treating this disease. There is no medical treatment available that will dissolve a cataract or prevent its development and progression."

"Nor is there any scientific evidence that dietary supplements such as vitamins or other nutrients can prevent or reverse cataract formation."

"A free brochure on cataract is available from the Illinois Society. To obtain a copy write Prevention of Blindness, 53 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago 60604.

"MAD AS A HATTER!"
Way back when grocers were dipping sugar and crackers out of open barrels, the above expression was coined. It came from the fact that hat makers used a lot of mercury which caused them to twitch violently and people concluded that they were mad.

Modern food merchandising is a far cry from the open barrel days. Regardless of improvements and facilities, our best laid plans often go awry and while it might not be perceptible to the naked eye... we twitch also.

In case your relationship with our personnel has suffered we would appreciate a note telling us about it. We can't afford to lose any customers, as tough as competition is now. ## Family emphasis by PTA

The family unit is alive and well in America. Or is it? If the 6 1/2 million parents who comprise the National PTA are any example, the outlook may be promising. So much so, in fact, that the PTA has chosen "Today's Family in Focus" as the theme for its 31st annual convention in Anaheim, Calif., May 15-18 at the Disneyland Hotel.

The event is expected to attract some 2,000 delegates from the U.S. and Europe.

"Throughout its history, the PTA has designed programs to help parents be parents, to the best of their abilities," says Carol Kimmel, of Illinois, National PTA president.

"Everything we do ultimately affects the quality of family life, whether it is our efforts to make 'parenting' courses (education for parenthood) part of the public school curriculum, or to reduce TV violence and improve the quality of programs, so that our children can learn and grow in a healthy home environment."

"This convention will provide a 1977 overview of today's changing family structure, and the specific concerns which shape its destiny."

The program will include speakers, forums for discussion, problem-solving via "action clinics," opportunities for PTA leaders to debate and vote on issues, cultural arts, commercial and educational exhibits, and a variety of entertainment.

Eight brochures and accompanying study guides will be making their debut. Written by young scholars in the social science field, the brochures deal with the trends of the American family in such areas as pre-school education of the child, preventive medicine, children's rights and working parents. Distribution is planned for convention delegates and the PTA's 32,000 local units in elementary and secondary schools.

Other high points among workshop offerings will include "Teenage Rebel: Challenge to Authority" — a presentation with the audience serving as the jury at a school board hearing in a school vandalism case.

A workshop on "Alcohol Abuse: Focus on a Family Problem" will present the first public display of the PTA's model projects in prevention education from its national alcohol education project. These models range in focus from elementary school curriculum materials to adult training programs and community awareness projects.

July 31, 1978. This leaves two other major trades unions in the heavy construction field in which new contracts have not yet been achieved.

Barber said negotiations now are under way with representatives of the Operating Engineers in the SIBA 39-county area and are expected to be completed soon. The SIBA contract with the Operating Engineers is due to expire July 16.

As soon as those organizations are completed, contract talks will begin with the Carpenters union locals. That contract expires this year on July 31, Barber said.

Barber said the new Teamsters' contract is for a three-year period, to expire May 1, 1980, and provides total pay increases of $1.63 over the period. He said the union also agreed to a revision of overtime rates, cutting overtime from double pay to time and a half on highway projects.

Overtime for work on heavily structured buildings, however, will remain at the double-time scale, he said.

The contract also provides a 5-cent per hour per year increase in the union's welfare fund, and pension increases based on varying scales and pay periods.

As a result of the Teamsters' contract in this district, Barber noted, it is unlikely building projects will be hit by a strike.

It was announced in Peoria Tuesday that Illinois teamsters have voted to strike contractors in many downstate districts because of a dispute between the union and the Associated General Contractors. Union leaders declined to discuss the cause of the problem.

Teamsters in these unions have been working since April 30 without a contract. Barber said the only possibility of a strike on jobs in the SIBA district would be in the event a contractor associated with SIBA also has contracts with AGC, which some of them do.

"I would say the chance of a teamsters strike spreading into this area would be very slight," Barber said.

Detailed plans

invited to submit in writing requests for a public hearing on the overpass project if they felt phases of the structure might present environmental problems.

DOT officials also declared the overpass project a "non-major" project, unless requests for a public hearing were made. As a non-major action, the city and its overpass engineers escape the procedure of preparing and filing an environmental impact statement, a time-consuming phase that could delay the project at least a year, and possibly more.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer said today that the lack of requests for a public hearing automatically will finalize selection of 19th Street as the overpass location by state and federal highway officials.

After tentative approval of the location was received in March, the city engineering department and M. W. Engineers completed a series of 17 soil test borings along the 19th Street route and conducted a series of traffic studies at 19th Street intersections.

Brewer said this information will be contained in further reports and plans which the city now will submit to the DOT.

A total of $2.1 million in funds from the Federal Aid to Urban Systems program has been approved for the project by a FAUS regional committee which distributes funds to priority projects in the region. Additional funds will be made available under this program over the next several years.

Jail bids

said this week that in many instances he saw the low bid requirements as a means of avoiding overcrowding in the present jail, now more than a century old.

There were 82 prisoners in the existing county jail in Edwardsville this week and the number has been averaging between 60 and 70. Its recommended capacity is 45.

Port terminal contracts

Bid contracts were awarded Monday afternoon in Springfield for the construction of a new river terminal at the Tri-City Regional Port District, Granite City.

The State of Illinois Capital Development Board accepted G. H. Sternberg & Company of Granite City bids for general construction and equipment. The two contracts totaled $2,363,904.

The C. J. Hervey Electric Co. of St. Louis was awarded a $152,635 contract for electrical work. The amounts were within one per cent of the state's estimates.

The new river terminal here will transfer dry bulk products, such as grain and grain products, from rail cars to barges.

The new facility will be capable of handling up to three million tons per year.

The state is providing construction capital for the project. Tri-City Port will repay the state from operating revenues from the facility.

Development of the new facility is expected to reinforce Illinois' position as the leading export state in the country, with 1976 exports exceeding $9 billion. It was noted by Port President John N. Bellocchi and Carl A. Ranft, general manager.

"Groundbreaking" will take place on May 21.

Three held in burglary

Two men residing in the Salvation Army Halfway House in St. Louis, ages 23 and 29, and a 21-year-old man from Hannibal, Mo., were in custody at the Granite City Jail today while complaints charging burglary were being prepared against them.

The three allegedly were involved in a burglary of a home at Mark Look, 2015 Washington Ave., Apt. 4, at about 9:15 p.m. Wednesday, which was witnessed by two young boys.

The boys told the victim at her work that they had just watched two men leave her apartment and leave in a black late-model pickup truck with Missouri license plates.

The victim discovered a $74 combination stereo and radio in the truck.

with two speakers and two children's books containing pennies and change had been stolen.

Entry was believed gained by crawling through an unlocked window. A cigarette was thrown on the floor, burning the floor.

A cold can of beer, half-empty, "was found in the apartment."

While police were searching for the truck, they were notified a truck of that description had just left Kirkpatrick Homes and the three occupants had indicated they may be going to a lounge in Cahokia.

Madison and Granite City officers watched Edwardsville Road until a Granite City officer reported he had the truck in sight westbound on Edwardsville Road and waiting for a train to cross.

Police units waited on both sides of the tracks and after the train cleared the crossing, the truck was stopped in the 1300 block of Edwardsville Road at 9:35 p.m. Wednesday.

Officers alleged the stereo and speakers and two bands were in plain view in the bed of the truck. That description had a truck of that description found in the same brand found in Mrs. Look's apartment was found in the truck and the two passengers were charged with illegal possession of liquor in a vehicle.

The three men were lodged in the city jail overnight pending interviews and processing by Granite City police detectives today.

Motorcyclist hurt

William O. Hasty Jr., 21, of 1601 Clark Ave., was injured when his motorcycle was forced into the curb in the turning lane between Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road at noon Tuesday.

Hasty said a car passing on the left cut off the motorcycle, causing it to strike the curb and fall. The car then left the scene.

Hasty was taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with a dislocated left shoulder, a cut to his head and bruises to both hands and to his abdomen.

GCBS student*is winner in essay contest

Several area high school students have "four American women lost in history" in order to win an essay contest on "Discovering Lost American Women."

The St. Clair-Madison National Organization for Women (NOW) sponsored the contest. The winner received $25 and an opportunity to participate in the $1,000 national prize.

The second and third place winners received $15 and $10 respectively. Glenda Calvin of Granite City High School won first prize for her essay on Dorothy Dix, a pioneer in mental health reform.

Kim Stevens of East Alton Junior High School received second prize for her work on Elizabeth Cady Stanton, first and only woman school superintendent.

Kent Alsbrooks of Benton High School earned a third prize for recording Emma Hale Smith, wife of Mormon Joseph Smith who saved the saved the sect's records during their persecution.

He was accompanied on the fishing trip to Kentucky Lake by his son-in-law and daughter, Mrs. Harold (Sarah) Dressel of St. Louis County. A daughter, Patricia Ann, his mother, Mrs. Esther V. Dressel, and two sisters, Mrs. Harvey (Mary Dean) Tigrett and Mrs. Nels (Ruth) Thompson, both of St. Louis County, preceded him in death.

In addition to Mrs. Dressel, Roy von Schmittou is survived by his wife, Mrs. Esther von Schmittou; another daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Bost dies

Unemployment procedure to change, Venice told

The Venice City Council Tuesday night approved a new procedure to reduce the cost of unemployment compensation.

Hartman said the cities will have a choice of paying to the state 2.5 per cent of their city payroll into unemployment compensation, or paying nothing, and then when a claim is made by an employee the city would reimburse the state for the full amount of the claim.

Hartman said the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers feel that there may be a constitutional question, and plans to seek a temporary injunction against the act.

Alderman John Ervin asked the council to approve the ordering of equipment for the Fire Department to be charged against next year's appropriations. Ervin said the items now, because it will take two to three months to receive delivery.

In other action the council approved hiring the firm of Kemper, Fisher, and Foust, certified public accountants of Cordova, Ill., to conduct the annual audit of the city accounts. The cost will be $1,000 for the regular accounts, $300 for the revenue sharing accounts and an additional charge to be determined on the police pension fund.

A resolution honoring the late J. D. Maurer was read and approved by the council and placed in the official city records. Sunset Hill strike ends

A three and a half-day strike at Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township, ended today after negotiations between the cemetery association and the union.

The cemetery association, which is a union of cemetery workers as a unit of the Teamsters Union.

The strike began early this week, developed in a dispute over organization plans. A spokesman for the cemetery association said the association agreed to recognition of a union. The agreement was reached Wednesday.

The strike created problems for some Quad-City area homes who were unable to schedule burials at Sunset Hill while the strike was in progress.

State official praises schools

The Granite City school district was given an unofficial "A plus" rating by Dick Snowden, a representative of the Illinois Office of Education during a talk to the Granite City Democratic Club Wednesday night in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Snowden said his observations indicate the school facilities, staff and administration "are doing an excellent job in Granite City."

He also praised Wilbur B. Trimpe, superintendent of the educational service region, for his leadership.

He discussed the basic operations of his office and the duties of the state superintendent of education.

Snowden also discussed several educational concepts being used around the state including 12-month schools, but noted decisions for changes should be made at the local level, not by the state.

Musso plan for tax collection opposed

Opposition is developing in several Quad-City area townships, including Chouteau Township, to a request by Madison County Tax Collector George Musso that those townships with local collectors go ahead and collect taxes this year and then deposit the taxes collected in the county treasurer's account for subsequent distribution.

The issue of who should collect taxes, the county or the townships, has been in question since the 1970 Illinois Constitution halted the practice of the township collector keeping a small percentage of taxes collected as reimbursement for the cost of the collection.

The task of collecting taxes then shifted to Musso who tried unsuccessfully to implement several programs to recover the costs of collection from the taxes or the taxing bodies.

Several townships objected to slow distribution of tax funds by Musso's office, which profited from interest the money drew while it was in the county's coffers.

As the result of slow distribution of taxes to the taxing agencies, many townships reactivated their township tax collectors and bore the cost of collection out of the general town funds.

Some townships reported the cost of using the local collector with the resulting rapid distribution of funds to the townships, was less expensive than issuing tax anticipation warrants and paying the interest while awaiting tax distribution.

During the April 28 meeting of the Madison County Township

Officials' Association, the representatives of the 15 townships present voted unanimously in favor of a resolution retaining the right for townships to have local collectors who distribute the taxes directly to the taxing agencies.

The issue also was discussed at Monday night's Chouteau Town Board of Auditors meeting and a motion was made by Trustee Marion Sparks for the town clerk to write a letter to Musso relating that the board opposes the concept of local collection but county distribution of taxes.

Sparks motion was approved unanimously.

NEW HOME OF COLONIAL BANK of Granite City begins to take shape. Henry Röss (right), building committee chairman, and Donald Van Horn, bank president, review construction plans for the new building. Visible at the right is the steel-reinforced concrete safe deposit vault. Measuring 20x24 feet, the vault will contain 330 safe deposit boxes of various sizes. The design of the vault permits future addition of several hundred more boxes as needed. When completed, the new 8,120-square-foot building will contain "complete, modern facilities for efficient full-service banking," Van Horn said. Occupancy is anticipated in late September of this year. The present bank facility is located immediately adjacent to the new site at Maryville and Pontoon Roads.

'Sammy' Dymas busy new recreation man

Samuel J. Dymas, better known to almost everyone as "Sammy," has had a busy two weeks since his appointment by Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk as the recreation director for the city of Madison.

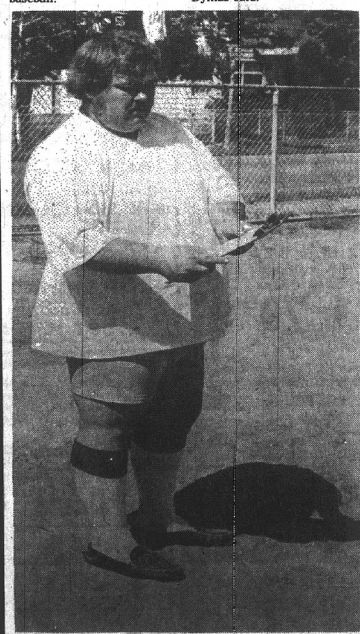

Dymas graduated from the Madison High school and attended Illinois State University where he played football and baseball.

Dymas recently was elected to a three-year term on the Madison School board. "There are a lot of things that we need to do in our recreation program and they won't happen overnight, but I believe we're off to a good start and will just keep plugging away. I want to have programs for all ages, preschoolers to senior citizens," Dymas said.

Dymas already has a softball league playing four nights a week. "I want to get some organized tennis going now with leagues and tournaments for people from six to 60. There are a lot of young people as well as adults that play tennis, and we have some fine courts located behind the recreation center," Dymas said.

"We're also working on getting a sauna and workout room for both men and women in the basement of the center. We have some of the equipment in now, and I need to work out our scheduling. "I also want to get mixed volleyball teams going and get into little league soccer and softball for little girls. "Who knows what the future will bring, but I have found everyone in the town very helpful and we are going to have the best recreation program around. But it sure takes time and money," Dymas said.

7 express opinions on county land use

Seven persons attended a land use meeting in the City Hall of Granite City Monday evening, conducted by Bill Hanke, project planner of the Madison County Development Policies Guide. Hanke explained that the meeting was to give the public an opportunity to express feelings on several policy statements which are being considered for inclusion in the Madison County Land Use Plan. Quad-City area residents also were given an opportunity to discuss land use problems affecting them and to suggest solutions.

Policy statements presented included revising the plan to qualify the area for the federal flood insurance program by regulating building in floodplain and high ground water areas. Another dealt with suggesting that industries study land already zoned commercial and provided with utilities, rail, water and roads for future construction rather than developing new areas.

Problems being encountered by core commercial centers, such as downtown areas, were the subject of another policy statement which suggests improved parking, malls, beautification and other changes to attract shoppers. The meeting lasted for two hours and 45 minutes, during which the residents attending were given an opportunity to express their views on land use. Mrs. Helen Hawkins, Dobrey Slough resident, suggested controls on developments in Dobrey Slough and other areas where poor soil drainage, soil saturation and high water tables damage basements and foundations. Another resident suggested stronger regulations to keep commercial developments out of established residential areas and encourage them to move to business-industrial areas. Another suggestion involved the need for more parks and open space areas. Hanke noted the meeting was the second in a series of three hearings being held throughout the county in which the public can help formulate goals and policies affecting agricultural, commercial, residential and industrial zoning needs.

Madison Choral Club concert

The 45 club members are lovers of music who voluntarily meet after school three nights a week for rehearsals, according to the director. The public is invited to attend the free concert.

Second house built by high school trades classes to be sold

A second house built by building trades and vocational students of Granite City School District at 54 Bermuda Lane is being readied for sale. It was reported this week. Construction of the residence has been a two-year educational venture by the school.

Construction of the six-room house was directed by Larry R. King, building trades instructor.

Other vocational areas contributing to the project were vocational drafting, Jerry Ethridge, instructor; vocational welding, Paul McGord, instructor; vocational machine, Ralph Grange and Joe Kutosky, instructors; vocational electric, Max Pies, instructor; and vocational sheet metal, Emil Kanis, instructor.

The house may be sold to the highest bidder with the Board of Education reserving the right to reject all bids. Sealed bids are to be submitted not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday, May 31, at the board office.

An open house will be held from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Thursday, Friday, Saturday, May 19, 20 and 21. Persons wishing to see the house at another time may make an appointment by phoning 877-1512.

Among special features in the kitchen are numerous cabinets by Marquis of colonial plank style with fruit wood finish, butcher block-top form, fornicia top, dishwasher, garbage disposal, built-in range and range exhaust hood.

There are two full baths, wall papered with tile in the shower area, and a vanity recessed medicine cabinet with side lights and exhaust fan.

The floors are fully carpeted, except commercial vinyl tile in the baths, kitchen and entrance foyer.

The lot is 72x125 feet.

The house is 1,200 square feet of living area, living room, dining area, kitchen, two baths, closets and full basement.

Mosquito spraying to begin early in Nameoki

With the early onset of the mosquito season in this area, the new Nameoki Town Board of Auditors is taking steps to get the township's mosquito spraying program in full swing as soon as possible.

At its first meeting two weeks ago, the board decided to purchase a portable "back pack" sprayer for areas of standing water which can not be reached by the spray truck.

Additional problems developed since that time as the mosquito abatement truck motor burned up.

At Tuesday night's town board meeting, the trustees voted to seek bids on a new truck and sprayer. If a sufficient number of acceptable bids are received by the next meeting, contracts could be awarded at that time for immediate delivery.

Supervisor Harold Davis told the board Tuesday that the portable sprayer has been received and will be placed in immediate use. Employees obtained under the Manpower grant program will operate the back pack unit.

Davis also noted the township's weekend and evening rabies control officer, Harry Blockley, has resigned that post and he appointed former Trustee Eugene Gargac to serve in that capacity. The board concurred in the appointment.

School survey in Madison

The Community Relations Committee of the Madison School District is making an effort to find out what the citizens think about the school system, and to solicit suggestions for improvement.

The survey has been mailed to 3,400 homes within the Madison School District on Friday.

Persons are being urged to complete the questionnaire and return it to any of the schools or the Madison Public Library.

The questionnaires may be returned by the person filling it out, by school children, or by mail.

Names are not necessary on the questionnaire, but a board spokesman has urged everyone receiving one to return it as soon as possible.

Trades council get acquainted meeting May 18

All officials elected to public offices during the city, school and township elections in April have been invited to a "get acquainted" meeting sponsored by the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council, it was announced Friday.

Edwin F. Reiske, president of the council, said the event will be held May 18 following the regular trades council meeting. Only a brief business session will be held and the meeting then will recess for the session with public officials.

Reiske said all delegates to the trades council are being urged to attend so that they may meet the area's officials newly elected or elected to new terms.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS IRIS SHOW SUNDAY

TV 9 record member drive

Channel 9's record-breaking membership drive, commemorating the "Upstairs-Downstairs" farewell episode May 1 resulted in the most successful one-night of pledging in the station's history, Executive Director Anthony S. Tiano said this week.

A total of 926 pledged support of public television, bringing the dollar amount to $31,527. The result of the pledge night almost tripled that of any previous membership night. It also increased the station's average pledge figure to $30.

M. Ellen Burke, director of membership services, said Channel 9 also received pledges from present members who offered additional contributions.

Viewers were given the opportunity to cast their vote for either the "Upstairs" cast or the "Downstairs" cast of the Masterpiece Theater presentation. "People were highly responsive to the voting option and the voters were eager to state their preferences," Miss Burke said.

Upstairs won with 259, Downstairs received 222, 152 pledged for both and 393 couldn't decide.

Nationally, 36 Public Broadcasting System stations participated in the celebration for a total of 65,474 pledges nationwide, accounting for the $1,750,000 collected.

Actress Jean Marsh had this to say about the end of "a truly classy" show:

"The program is good, very good for a serial. Not just the departments the audience is aware of — acting and writing — but camera work, set dressing, lighting, sound engineers — hundreds of talented people all working well together and with pride in the product."

The Sunday airing of "Upstairs-Downstairs" was one of Channel 9's most highly rated programs, both in terms of Nielsen ratings and viewer response.

The ratings show Channel 9 reached 320,000 to 350,000 households on a regular basis each week in February. Top programs during that Nielsen sweep were: Monty Python, Upstairs-Downstairs, Tuesday Special of the Week, Meeting of the Minds, Search for the Nile, Nova, Zoom, Energy Crunch, Washington Week and Wall Street Week.

ATTENDS CERAMICS CLASS IN KENTUCKY

Phyllis Johnson of P. J. Ceramics, 1713 Spruce St., returned home this week from Paducah, Ky., where she attended a Duncan Seminar class at West Kentucky Ceramics.

Mrs. Johnson received certificate awards in ceramics after completing the instruction course.

Coffee concert

Works by American composers will highlight the final coffee concert at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Monday, May 16, in the University Club restaurant of the University Center.

The American theme concert in the Coffee Concerts Chamber Music Series is the final presentation in the successful series, presented by selected faculty members and guest artists in the SIUE department of music and produced by the University Center Program Department.

Coffee Concerts are presented in a relaxed atmosphere around tables. At the May 16 event, American desserts and "bottomless cups of coffee" will be included with the music of SIUE artists.

Table reservations for the concert are limited, and thus far every concert in the series has been sold out. Frank Siano, program director of the University Center, said these planning to attend should check with their friends before making reservations and indicate when ordering tickets whether they are reserving a table for two or more.

The first portion of the American coffee concert will feature Kent Perry and Joseph Pivotal performing "James Woodard's" "Duo for Violin and Violoncello." Then, George Melott, clarinetist, Robert Schleier, violinist, and Linda Perry, pianist, will perform "Trio for Clarinet, Viola and Piano" by Leslie Bassett.

Following a brief intermission, John Kendall, violinist, and Linda Perry will perform "Sonata for Violin and Piano, Op. 34" by Mrs. H.H.A. Beach.

Tickets for the concert are $1.50 for non-students and 50 cents for SIUE students. For reservations and ticket information, Quad-Cityans may contact the University Box Office at 692-2320.

Father and son report burglaries

Stanley Sobolewski Jr., 1000 Alton Ave., Madison, reported last week that a wristwatch and transistor radio were taken from the glove compartment of his auto while it was parked at his home.

A short time later, Stanley Sobolewski Sr., 1004 Alton Ave., Madison, discovered his garage burglarized with drill bits, tools and a flashlight taken.

Price explains change in GI bill benefits

U.S. Rep. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) is advising area residents currently participating in the GI Bill educational benefits program of changes in the payment of their benefits.

The congressman explained that regular monthly benefits will no longer be prepaid at the beginning of each month after May 1977. All checks issued on or after June 1, 1977, will represent payment for the preceding month rather than the current month.

"For example, the regular monthly checks for June will not be issued under this new system until July 1. This is important to note, since it means that under most circumstances no checks will be issued to students during June."

"This is because the May benefits will be paid under the old system at the beginning of May, while the changeover to the new system will mean June benefits will be received at the end of the month."

Also effective June 1, advance payment at the beginning of a term for the initial month or partial month and the following month will no longer be made without a written request from the student.

'White collar' crime in state—$2 billion a year

"White collar crime is costing Illinois citizens more than $2 billion a year," Attorney General William J. Scott told the Illinois Senate Executive Committee at a mid-week hearing last week.

Testifying in support of Senate Bill 604, Scott said, "Welfare fraud by some unscrupulous medical clinics, nursing homes, doctors, drug stores and factoring companies is by far the worst area of financial crime in the state."

"Medicaid fraud alone is costing the people of Illinois tens of millions of dollars a year."

He added, "It's incredible that the attorney general of the state has no direct criminal authority to investigate and prosecute Medicaid fraud, insurance and securities laws violations, state-chartered bank and savings and loan embezzlements, tax frauds, charitable organization frauds and other white-collar crimes."

Senate Bill 604 would provide the authority Scott seeks to prosecute for offenses arising out of state taxes, registration or sale of securities, and formation and operation of insurance companies, charitable organizations and financial

II Corinthians 5:17

"Therefore if any man be in Christ he is a new creature. Old things have passed away and behold all things are become new."

We are a blessed nation. A Christian nation. The world around us looks our way for leadership in the principles of right living. We have a great responsibility to them and to God.

In our nation violent crime is on the increase. Murder, armed robbery, assault, rape. The consumption of cigarettes and alcoholic beverages increases by leaps and bounds. Lying, stealing, corruption, drunkenness, adultery, fornication, abound in the lifestyles of the people who lead our country. Of course, there are exceptions. A very few exceptions.

If any man be in Christ, he is a NEW creature. Do you believe that? He saves us from the very things that I have mentioned. If you are still living one way but you believe on Him I must say you have not a sinner but a saint. The Bible cannot be wrong. If you believe on Christ as your savior, you will be a changed person.

Will you make that change? Today.

Hays-Stanfill nuptials at St. Joseph Church

St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding, April 29, of Miss Marianne Stanfill, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Stanfill, 2214 State St., and Harold L. Hays, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hays, 1928 Sikeen St., Madison. Bouquets of spring flowers adorned the altar and burning tapers in tiered candelabra illuminated the sanctuary and white carpeted aisle for the 7 p.m. double ring ceremony performed by Father Peter Donohoe.

Organist Mrs. Cleta Judd played "Ave Maria," "Pani Angelicus," "Hail There Was You" and other wedding selections from Du Bois and Mendelssohn.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Stanfill wore a full length white gown fashioned of Nottingham lace and a miter mist.

Long lace bishop sleeves were set into the Empire style lace bodice designed with a square neckline edged with a tiny lace. The semi full skirt of miter mist fell softly into a chapel train. She wore a flat lace headpiece etched with seed pearls to secure her lace bordered mantilla veil of bridal illusion. The bridal bouquet was an arrangement of white roses, baby's breath and mums.

Honor attendants were Miss Cathy Stanfill, a sister of the bride, and John Gorka.

Other members of the wedding party included Miss Gertie Hays, a sister of the groom, Miss Ruth Strackeljohn, the bride's cousin, Mrs. Mary Ann Stanfill, the bride's sister-in-law, John Pieper and Gregory and David Stanfill, brothers of the bride.

Seating the guests were Charles Tindall, a nephew of the groom and Wesley Stanfill, the bride's brother.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids chose identical full length dresses of polyester with white embroidered applique trim complemented with long green jackets in apricot lime green, pink and blue hues.

Each carried long stem white roses and baby's breath festooned with cascading ribbons to match their gowns.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stanfill selected a pink polyester gown and matching long sleeved jacket trimmed with embroidered motifs.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Hays was attired in a blue embroidered organza Empire style gown worn with a short cape. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception given at the VFW Hall, immediately following the service.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Hays Jr., of Columbus, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stanfill of Ladson, S. C., and Mr. and Mrs. David Stanfill and sons of Memphis, Tenn.

The bride is a 1975 graduate of Granite City High School South and is employed at Central Hardware-Co. A 1972 graduate of Madison High School, the groom is presently employed at Granite City Steel.

They are residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to Atlanta, Ga.

To Members of United Steelworkers of America

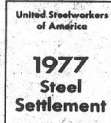

This week the Union members who work in basic steel plants will be receiving through the mail a booklet explaining the 1977 Basic Steel Settlement.

Our Union's new three-year labor agreement with the nation's basic steel industry embodies an unprecedented wage-and-benefit package and a dramatic advancement towards lifetime security for our members.

The 1977 Basic Agreement will cover approximately 400,000 employees. Its provisions will become bargaining goals for an additional million members of our Union who work in other industries.

For that reason, all members of our Union and their families have a vital interest in the highlights of the 1977 settlement in basic steel. Further, the brief summaries on this page will bring to the millions of unorganized workers in our country a better understanding of the value of unionism.

Increase In Minimum Pensions

Minimum pensions will be increased August 1, 1977, and again on August 1, 1979. As of each date, the minimum monthly pension of an employee retiring under this new Agreement will be as follows:

YEARS OF SERVICE	MONTHLY PENSION AUGUST 1, 1977	MONTHLY PENSION AUGUST 1, 1979
10 years	$125.00	$135.00
15 years	$187.50	$202.50
20 years	$257.50	$277.50
25 years	$327.50	$352.50
30 years	$397.50	$427.50
35 years	$475.00	$510.00
40 years	$552.50	$592.50
45 years	$630.00	$675.00

The above pensions are in addition to Social Security. Under an alternative percent formula, retirees may receive higher pensions than minimum.

Presently, many workers are forced to retire early because of disability, long layoff or plant shutdown. In such cases, a monthly supplement is added to the regular pension until Social Security takes over. This supplement will increase to $300 a month, effective August 1, 1977—up from $230.

YEARS OF SERVICE	MONTHLY AMOUNT
20 Years	$577.50
25 Years	$652.50
30 Years	$727.50
35 Years	$810.00
40 Years	$892.50

Other Benefits

The new Agreement contains new benefits and improvements in almost all economic areas, some of which are:

- A new Vision Care Plan for the employee and dependents.
- Life insurance, hospital and physicians' services and the dental care plan were improved.
- Major medical plan increased to $30,000 annually and to $50,000 lifetime.
- A new holiday, United Nations Day. Holidays now total 11.
- Insurance and pensions increased for past retirees and surviving spouses.
- Benefits increased for employees laid off due to energy shortage, pollution controls or coal strike.
- SUB funding increases.

Not One Dollar Lost in Wages Due to Strikes

The 1977 Settlement marks the second impressive success of our Union in bargaining conducted under the Experimental Negotiating Agreement (ENA). As in 1974, this new Agreement was negotiated without the threat of an industry-wide strike and the hardships that a strike imposes on employees and their families. No member has been laid off because of customer stockpiling in anticipation of a strike.

At the end of this contract, the wages that will have been gained under six years of ENA settlements will have doubled the wages gained in the previous years marked by five industry-wide strikes.

Yearly Wages Up $4,000 Plus

Pay for each job covered by the new 1977 Basic Steel Agreement is expected to increase more than $4,000 a year by May 1, 1980.

Effective during the next three years will be six wage increases totaling an average of 88¢ per hour and 12 cost-of-living adjustments. Most economists predict an average 6% inflation rate over the next three years. On that assumption:

- The lowest rate (Job Class 1-2) in the basic steel industry will have increased to $7.865—a jump of $2.05 per hour or $4,264 a year.
- The average Job Class 10 worker will be making $9.743 per hour—an increase of $2.306 per hour or $4,796.48 a year.
- A Job Class 6 salaried employee's bi-weekly income will have increased to $627.37—up $172 per pay period or $4,472 a year.

Our members in the basic steel industry are among the fortunate 5% of the nation's 90 million work force who have the protection of full, automatic cost-of-living increases every three months. Cost-of-living increases to basic steel employees for the three-year period April 30, 1977, totaled $1.19 per hour ($2,476 a year for a full 2080-hour work year).

"Beginning—A Lifetime Security Program for All Steelworkers"

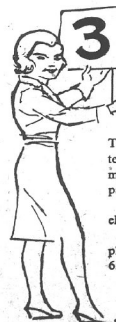

One of the most important breakthroughs in the new steel agreement is that we have laid the foundation on which Steelworkers can build a lifetime security program. This new program means that jobs and earnings of Steelworkers will be more secure. It also means that the steel communities where our members work and live will become more stable economically.

About 40% of the employees in the 10 major steel companies—those with 20 or more years of service—will be entitled to a series of greatly expanded benefits.

In future negotiations, the group of employees covered will be increased until all are protected.

Rule of 65

The new Rule of 65 Pension provides a striking break-through in extending protection against loss of income to 20 year employees affected by plant or departmental shutdown, extended layoff or disability. The first obligation of the company will be to offer suitable long-term employment to such employees.

If the company cannot provide such employment, such employees will be eligible for full pensions with a supplement of $300 a month.

An employee who is age 41 with 20 years of service who stops work due to plant or departmental shutdown, long layoff or disability will meet the Rule of 65 requirements by the end of two years, when SUB or S&A benefits expire.

When we started back in 1936 the labor rate was 47 cents an hour and the average steel wage was 66 cents an hour. Pensions were negligible, perhaps $6 per month in some cases. No paid holidays, no paid vacations, no insurance; no Supplemental Unemployment Benefits; no seniority and no other benefits to speak of.

Compare the difference between 1936 and 1977.

On June 1, I am retiring as President of the Steelworkers Union after 41 years of service to my Union. I leave office with the knowledge that our members in basic steel will continue to enjoy the highest living standards and best conditions ever. OUR 1977 SETTLEMENT WITH THE BASIC STEEL INDUSTRY MARKED THE BIGGEST GAINS IN OUR HISTORY. And I am satisfied that our bargaining achievements will also provide increased stability and growth in steel communities everywhere.

Electronic memory bank topic of Secretaries

Miss Joyce Williams, a marketing support representative, for IBM Corp., in St. Louis, presented an educational program on "word processing" to members of the Madison Chapter of the Future Secretaries Association at a meeting held at Madison High School, last week.

She began her presentation by using charts to demonstrate three commonly used techniques for storing data, however, most of her time was spent explaining the Office Systems VI, an advanced resource for greater processing production.

Some of the characteristics of the system include; the system captures and stores information on a magnetic card at a rate of 92 strokes per second; once the machine is set up, it will operate seven and one half hours, without being checked by a secretary; it types letters and addresses envelopes at the same time; misspelled words, omissions, transpositions, format errors are corrected electronically without waste of time; Office System VI also prints materials transmitted by a computer; it has the capacity to send memos and reports over ordinary phone lines; the reproduction is done by a quiet, high-speed ink jet printer, Miss Williams explained.

Miss Williams pointed out the system operates on an electronic memory and machine logic and one memory module has a storage capacity of 8,000 characters.

Chapter President Darlene Gilliam conducted the final meeting of the school term and reports were given by Harriet Malone and Wendy Burns.

Also present were Mrs. Peggy Moore and Mrs. Sally Gracey, members of the Tri-Cities Chapter, National Secretaries Association.

Illinois election 'nightmare' seen

President Jimmy Carter's proposed Universal Voter Registration Act is "full of holes" and should not be made law, it was contended last week by an Illinois spokesman.

"In fact, if enacted, it will create a nightmare for state and local election officials. It will encourage more vote fraud and result in more election day problems than it hopes to solve."

That was the opinion voiced by Franklin J. Lunding Jr., chairman of the Illinois State Board of Elections. He testified in Washington before the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration, which is hearing evidence on the President's proposal.

Lunding told the committee he was expressing the unanimous attitude of Illinois' election board and the county clerks whose jobs it is to conduct elections in the state. "We surveyed all 102 Illinois county clerks and the 10 municipal election commissions and to date have not received one letter in support of this proposal," he said.

Lunding asserted that the President's proposal has five major deficiencies:

1. The bill encourages a system of dual registration.

"Most states conduct voter outreach programs which encourage people to register in advance of election day. But, this proposal eliminates the incentive for advance registration," he said.

He said that the effect of the bill would be to eliminate cutoff dates for registration.

"Why have a deadline when you can register and vote all at the same time?" he asked.

2. The bill does not address itself to residency requirements.

"At present, there is a 30-day residency requirement so that election authorities can process voter registration records prior to election. Election day registration all but eliminates this requirement, too."

3. The bill does not deal properly with voter identification and opens the door to vote fraud.

"The use of a driver's license has been mentioned as a form of identification," Lunding said, "but the bill does not consider persons who do not have such a license."

"Nor does it consider that a driver's license can be easily counterfeited."

Lunding questioned whether any other form of identification would be acceptable under the proposal — and whether the proposed stipulation that only one form of identification could be requested constitutes an undue constraint.

4. The bill has inadequate provisions to prevent fraud.

"We have found," Lunding said, "that people are much less apt to cheat if they think someone will scrutinize the voting rolls and challenge them before election day."

"Under the proposal, multiple voting could easily be arranged by having but one piece of identification and using it repeatedly in the course of an election day — with the names and records being buried in an avalanche of paperwork during the day."

Lunding conceded that such fraud probably would be later discovered but, said, "It will already have been perpetrated with voting in more than one precinct. As a result, one could anticipate many election contests and lawsuits." Nor could fraudulent registration ballots once inside the ballot box, be separated from legitimately-cast ballots.

5. The bill could result in undue delays and general confusion on election day.

"If voters decide to skip advance registration and just register and vote on election day, polling places could be buried under congestion and confusion."

This would result in tremendous delays and burdens on election judges, who would be required to qualify voters and their credentials, and upon voters who would be required to wait substantial periods of time whether they were previously registered or not.

"In addition, election officials would never be adequately prepared with voting materials or machines."

Lunding told the committee that if the bill is adopted, the end result would be "so disruptive to the electrical process that it would cause our citizens to become even more skeptical about the ability of government to solve their problems."

"Indeed, in this case, the problems would only become worse."

"Illinois urges you most strenuously to reject President Carter's proposed bill," Lunding concluded.

Rabies clinic for GC pets on May 20

Dogs and cats, 4 months and over, are required to receive inoculations against rabies each year and a special rabies vaccination clinic will be held Friday, May 20, in Granite City to help pet owners to comply with state and city laws.

GC Humane Officer Andy Chiappa said inoculations against rabies will be given between 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Friday, May 20, at the Granite City Humane Department shelter.

The shelter is located on old Highway 67, south of the A. O. Smith Corp. plant.

Rabies shots will be administered by a licensed veterinarian at a cost of $5 per animal.

A city tax of $1 for males and $2 for females will be collected at the same time, Chiappa said.

GC park watchmen sought for summer

The Granite City Park District is accepting applications for summer employment as park watchmen. Six watchmen will be hired according to Harold Brown, district superintendent.

These applying must be 21 years of age or over and live within the park district boundaries.

The job will be for 32 to 40 hours weekly during weekends and evenings, Brown explained. The district also is seeking a storeroom clerk for full-time employment. The duties include issuing tools and keeping an equipment inventory.

Persons applying for the storeroom job are required to have two or three years experience in this field and also reside in the Granite City Park District.

Applications for the watchmen and storeroom jobs are available at the Wilson Park office.

School tax power urged

"The state legislature should give local school districts the authority to raise taxes without voter approval when the legislature fails to fully fund the school aid formula," this is one conclusion of the new Citizens Commission on School Finance.

A 13 member task force appointed by the State Board of Education to conduct a major review of school aid programs, the commission is chaired by George Morrow, president of People's Gas Co.

It includes representatives with experience in business, labor, taxation and agriculture. The group met last week in Chicago to approve a final draft of its report for submission to the State Board.

In its report, the commission predicts that educational expenditures per pupil and in total will continue to rise despite declining enrollments and the need for fewer teachers and fewer school buildings.

The commission also urged a single state appropriation for common school education and categorical programs creates a distortion and frustration of state aid to education.

Among the 39 recommendations of the commission are the following:

1. Minimum Per-Pupil Funding — each student in Illinois should be guaranteed, as a minimum from the state, an amount of money to provide adequately for his or her educational needs.

At present, school districts at the top of the payment scale spend four times more per pupil than districts at the bottom of the scale.

It is asserted that the State Board should designate a minimum amount, assuming maximum local tax effort, to be guaranteed through the Resource Equalizer Formula, which would be equal to the amount spent per pupil for the district ranked at the 75th percentile in the state.

2. One Formula — the state should move toward the use of only the resource equalizer formula for calculating general state aid.

The existence of two formulas under which districts may obtain state aid threatens the equalization of educational expenditures per pupil by allowing some districts to receive more under one formula than they would under the other, it is contended.

3. Minimum Standard — The state should require all school districts to evaluate regularly the minimum effectiveness of programs in reading, writing, mathematics, citizenship and consumer skills.

Beyond this minimum, the state should assist local school boards to set unique or higher goals on a voluntary basis, the commission says.

4. Compensatory Education — The state should adopt a definition of pupil eligibility for funding under the state's compensatory educational program for low-income students that will enable districts to identify precisely the eligible pupils.

Unless the amount involved is negligible, funds for compensatory education should be spent for the direct benefit of eligible pupils, it is argued.

5. District Reorganization — The state should provide incentives for local school districts to reorganize into new districts of at least the following sizes: elementary, 800 pupils; high school, 400 pupils; unit, 1,200 pupils.

No pupil should be required to travel more than one hour to school and no district should be larger than an educational region.

6. Pension Funding — The state should establish a commission to study retirement policies and pension funding for educational personnel. Among subjects which require review

Brinza chosen for laboratory research work

Three more chemistry majors from Illinois State University — including a Madisonian — have been selected to participate in the undergraduate research program at Argonne National Laboratory during the 1977-78 academic year.

Presently, Kim Stearley, Decatur, is just completing her study at Argonne and plans to study for her Ph.D. degree.

David Brinza, a senior from Madison, will be at Argonne during the fall term studying physical aspects of polymers.

Brinza, 1017 Alton Ave., has worked with Professors Roger Bunting and Lawrence Gier on independent research projects at ISU (Normal-Bloomington) and also taken part in a National Science Foundation-sponsored research program for undergraduates at the University of Missouri.

He has been active in the Chemistry Club as vice-president this year and has been a student member of the Council of the College of Arts and Sciences. An avid rugby player, Brinza plans to attend graduate school in chemistry upon completion of his undergraduate studies.

Anthony Pragovich and David Vidusek, who are both ISU juniors from Hinsdale, will join Brinza during the spring term. Roh has carried out undergraduate research projects with Professor John Harmon of ISU and will be working with Dr. Jack Williams of Argonne on structural studies using neutron diffraction.

Standby gasoline tax unlikely—Congressmen

Press-Record
Washington Bureau
Congress will write a national energy program with a closer eye on voters than on the White House, some Illinois congressmen are suggesting.

For that reason, President Carter's proposed gasoline standby tax to reduce consumption has the least likely prospect of passing.

"Our country needs an energy policy, but Congress will take its directions from the people, not the White House," Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-14th Dist., observed.

"The people will let us know which parts of the policy they approve and which they want to change."

Most Congressional fire centers on Carter's proposal to add five cents a year to the price of gasoline over the next decade, starting in 1979, for every year that consumption exceeds a national target.

White House Energy Adviser James R. Schlesinger said in the first Congressional hearings on the Carter plan that there is a 50 to 60 per cent chance the President would impose the standby gasoline tax if it is enacted.

Schlesinger said reducing gasoline consumption to avoid the tax is the kind of challenge Americans have risen to in the past.

Whatever Congress does, it had better do it soon, Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns warned last week. He said Carter's proposals for "massive" energy taxes and rebates will create "turmoil" and uncertainty among business executives and consumers.

"It obviously is important that Congress lose no time in considering the President's energy recommendations," he said.

Rep. Paul Simon, D-24th Dist., said there is little evidence to support the conclusions of the President's advisers that increasing the price of gasoline will reduce consumption.

"Other portions of the President's package can work, but this proposal is not likely to pass," Simon said, citing the more than 20-cent hike in gasoline prices in 1973 during the Arab boycott.

That increase, coupled with the 55-mile-an-hour national speed limit and shorter hours for many service stations, temporarily dropped gasoline consumption about 20 per cent.

"Consumption is now far above that 1973 figure, despite the fact that we have retained the 55 mph speed limit," Cong. Simon said.

If the 90 per cent increase in gasoline prices in 1973 failed to make a permanent dent in consumption, then President Carter's seven per cent increase (inherent in the five-cent tax) is not likely to succeed either, Simon contends.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-20th Dist., also believes the Carter plan won't work.

"I doubt whether a higher federal tax on the sale of gasoline will cause people to drive their cars less frequently or fewer miles," he said.

"Certainly, that policy has not worked in European countries, there has been no cutback in miles driven."

Rep. Robert McClory, R-19th Dist., said using a federal tax as a deterrent to the purchase of gasoline "would further burden the taxpayer" with no assurance it would actually cut consumption.

"Congress probably will devote most of this year to President Carter's energy proposals," he added, "but even with a Democratically controlled Congress, some of his measures face rough days ahead."

ARRIVE IN GUATEMALA. Ten sheep purchased by three downtown Granite City churches with offerings received during combined Lenten services are shown in this photograph taken as the animals were delivered in Guatemala. St. Peter United Church of Christ, Niedringhaus Methodist and First Presbyterian Churches raised $1,000 which they paid for the sheep and their delivery by Heifer Projects International, a non-profit organization that delivers live animals and poultry to needy areas of the world.

GC churches buy sheep for needy in Guatemala

Word has been received from Heifer Projects International that the $1,000 offering from three Granite City churches has been used to send ten sheep to Guatemala, a church representative announced Monday.

St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, Niedringhaus United Methodist and First Presbyterian Church held a combined Lenten Midweek Worship Services this year. The offering from these six services was designated for Heifer Projects to purchase sheep.

HPI ships live animals to needy areas in this country and around the world, a spokesman explained. Guatemala was the scene of one of the worst earthquakes in Central American history in 1976. The country offers a hard life to most of its people. Half of the population are Indians who work hard but earn less than $200 per year, the spokesman said.

The HPI representative works with 49 agricultural missions and agencies to provide animals and training for these Indian families. During 1977, HPI plans to send $144,400 worth of animals, seeds, books and support for field workers to this country. In 1976 over 1,140 persons attended HPI sponsored courses in various parts of the country, it was noted.

Heifer Projects International was begun by Dan West, an Indiana farmer. In 1944 the first shipment of heifers was sent to Puerto Rico. The next year the war-ravaged countries of Europe received shipments of live animals. Since then, HPI has become worldwide, a self-help organization, non-sectarian and non-profit, to provide livestock, poultry and training in the care of these animals to needy people in more than 95 countries overseas and more than a dozen states in the United States, church leaders said.

This is the second year the three downtown Granite City churches held their Lenten Worship Services together. Two were held at each church location with the ministers of the three churches conducting the liturgy and preaching. Each local church provided both organ and vocal music when the services were at their church. An opportunity was provided at each church for a fellowship period after the worship to encourage making new friends and renewing acquaintances, it was explained.

The Rev. Robert Kettelhut, David Maxton and Roy Bough, ministers of the three churches, suggested the purchase of live animals as the offering project again this year as a means to respond in a particular way to the world hunger needs. Last year during the Lenten Services, another $1,000 was raised to send two pregnant heifers overseas.

Plans are now under way by the three churches for a joint Vacation Church School June 12 to 24, to be held at First Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue. A joint men's rally is being planned for the fall along with a parking lot ministry for the neighborhood children three weeks this summer.

Other plans for the community are being developed by a Three-Church Task Force which has been in action since last October. This week the three churches concluded a series of four Bible studies at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church under the leadership of Professor Walter Brueggemann of Eden Seminary, Webster Groves, Mo.

"It is our hope," concluded the three pastors, "that our churches, working in cooperation, will be able to provide many, other meaningful expressions of the Christian faith in the future. Thus they will enrich their own individual lives as well as the lives of others in our community and around the world."

Salvation Army summer camp drive begins

Captain Michael Tompkins, Salvation Army Corps officer, has announced plans for the annual drive to raise funds to send deserving boys and girls to The Salvation Army Camp in Bourbon, Mo.

In addition to week-long camp programs, The Salvation Army also provides day camp activities at its Corps Community Center.

Arts, crafts and field trips are designed to broaden the disadvantaged child's horizons and to keep young minds and bodies busy in worthwhile activities, Captain Tompkins said. He hopes to serve 350 youngsters in the summer program this year, he said. Further information may be obtained at 307 E. 2nd St. Contributions are needed to insure that the children most deserving receive a chance to enjoy traditional summer fun, Capt. Tompkins concluded.

Opportunity for grants to study abroad for year

The Institute of International Education has announced the official opening of the 1978-79 competition for grants for graduate study or research abroad in academic fields and for professional training in the creative and performing arts, according to David G. Brown, assistant dean of the SIUE Graduate School.

Brown, who also is Fulbright program advisor at SIUE, said it is expected that 550 awards to 50 countries will be available for the 1978-79 academic year.

Purpose of the grants is to increase mutual understanding between people of the United States and other countries through exchange of persons, knowledge and skills. They are provided under terms of the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961 (Fulbright-Hays Act) and by foreign governments, universities and private donors.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens at the time of application who will generally hold a bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the grant and, in most cases, will be proficient in the language of the host country.

Except for certain specific awards, candidates may not hold the Ph.D. degree at the time of application. Candidates for 1978-79 are ineligible for a grant to a country they have been doing graduate work or conducting research in that country during the academic year 1977-78.

Creative and performing artists are not required to have a bachelor's degree, but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience. Social work applicants must have at least two years of professional experience after the master of social work degree. Candidates in medicine must have an M.D. at the time of application.

Selection is based on the academic and/or professional record of the applicant, the validity and feasibility of the proposed study plan, the applicant's language preparation and personal qualifications. Preference is given to candidates who have not had prior opportunity for extended study or residence abroad.

Additional information and application material may be obtained from Assistant Dean Brown in the Graduate School Office, Room 2202 of the Renaissance Building, from 1 to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Deadline for submission of applications is Sept. 30.

Solar heating workshop

By RONALD CORNWELL, Madison County Agricultural Advisor

A solar heating workshop for contractors, builders, suppliers and farmers planning to construct farm buildings to utilize solar energy will be held from 9:15 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, May 23, at the Ramada Inn, Mount Vernon.

With the energy crisis that has developed in the past few years, some farmers are looking about using solar energy in their farmstead planning. Solar energy can be used on the farm for grain drying, heating of livestock buildings and farm workshops.

New farm buildings being constructed can be designed to utilize solar energy. Present farm buildings can also be remodeled to make use of this energy source.

The workshop, entitled "Harnessing the Sun," will focus on utilizing energy in the construction of farm buildings. Workshop leaders will include University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service agricultural engineers and staff members of the Small Homes Council.

An advanced registration fee of $5 will cover only the cost of literature and is needed to get an accurate count for lunch and literature.

Advance registration for the program must be to the Extension office by May 19.

Black cutworm in corn was reported during the past week in Madison County. Farmers should check their fields for cutworm activity. They should check fields as corn plants begin to emerge. Watch for cut, wilting or missing plants.

When cutworms are less than half an inch long, they are primarily leaf and whorl feeders. A black cutworm does not begin cutting plants until it is approximately half grown.

The cutworm varies from 1/4 inch long when newly hatched to 1 1/2 inches long when fully grown. The worms are usually a light gray to blackish color and have skin granules on their body.

The cutworm adult, which is a moth, winters in the south and migrates north in the spring. There may be cases where they would spend the winter in Southern Illinois. The adults normally lay eggs in the low areas of the field, so these spots should be checked first.

When checking a corn field, look for freshly cut plants. In many cases, the cutworm will cut the corn plant off below ground level and pull the plant into the burrow it has made. Just as often, the cutworm will cut the plant above ground level.

Cutworms will remain hidden in the soil during the day. Dig in the soil about three inches on each side of the plant. You can usually find the cutworm.

One cutworm is capable of cutting several plants. If you can find two or more cutworms per 100 plants and the worms are present, treat the area at once.

For control, apply 20 to 40 pounds of 5 per cent carbaryl per acre directly into the row. To get effective control with the carbaryl spray, mix one quart of molasses or one quart of Tracum per acre as an attractant to the cutworms. Use 15 to 20 gallons of water per acre. If an attractant is not used with the spray, it will be necessary to cultivate after spraying to enhance control.

Horse owners have shown concern over the status of the Equine Infectious Anemia Eradication Act. The state department of agriculture reports the law is in full effect and will remain so until changed through the legislature.

Here is an example of the effect of the current regulations. Let's say a horse was tested May 10, 1976. That test will qualify this horse to be sold, traded, offered for sale, leased, loaned, transported on public roads, streets or highways in a conveyance or sold through a licensed livestock auction market until May 10, 1978.

The state department of agriculture reports several bills being introduced to make changes in the equine testing regulations. However, none of these bills has passed at the present time.
